Hurricane Toll Runs To Millions

No Lives Are Lost, However, In Smash Along East Coast

WILMINGTON, N. C. (AP)—Up and down the coast stand houses with roofs ripped open. Battered trees gleam nakedly against the sky, their shorn limbs piled up on streets and roads. Telephone poles sag crazily.

On the miles of beaches, the surf washes over tens of thousands of conch shells, more souvenirs of the weekend's Hurricane Helene.

Damage from the hurricane is estimated in the millions of dollars. Communications are still out in many areas. But there was no loss of life.

Residents, recalling hurricanes of 1954-55, were prepared when Helene swirled past the Carolinas and the Virginia Capes, well offshore, with winds up to 140 miles an hour.

A civil defense spokesman said the people "gave us no argument" when asked to evacuate.

There were scattered personal injuries. The Red Cross said 4,950 persons were cared for at 65 shelters.

Spinning shoreward Saturday morning from the southeast, Helene passed up most of South Carolina's lush resort area. She knocked down a fishing pier at Ocean Drive Beach, S. C., and damaged two more piers in Cherry Grove Beach.

Moving toward the jutting North Carolina coastline, she smashed a 300-foot pier at Ocean Isle Beach, N. C., damaged most of the houses at Holden Beach and sent high water over the protective sand dunes at Long Beach, damaging roads. This was in the forenoon.

She hit hardest at Southport, tucked inside the elbow of the Cape Fear, and Wilmington, 30 miles north. She never came inland, staying about 35 miles offshore. All communications were knocked out at Southport and the town was in need of water until auxiliary pumps were brought in.

"The only thing that saved us," said some Southport citizens, "was that the winds and the tide were working against each other."

State Rep. James C. Boman of Brunswick County said he was "very anxious to see if we get a declaration as a disaster area," adding that the poorer people had suffered the most.

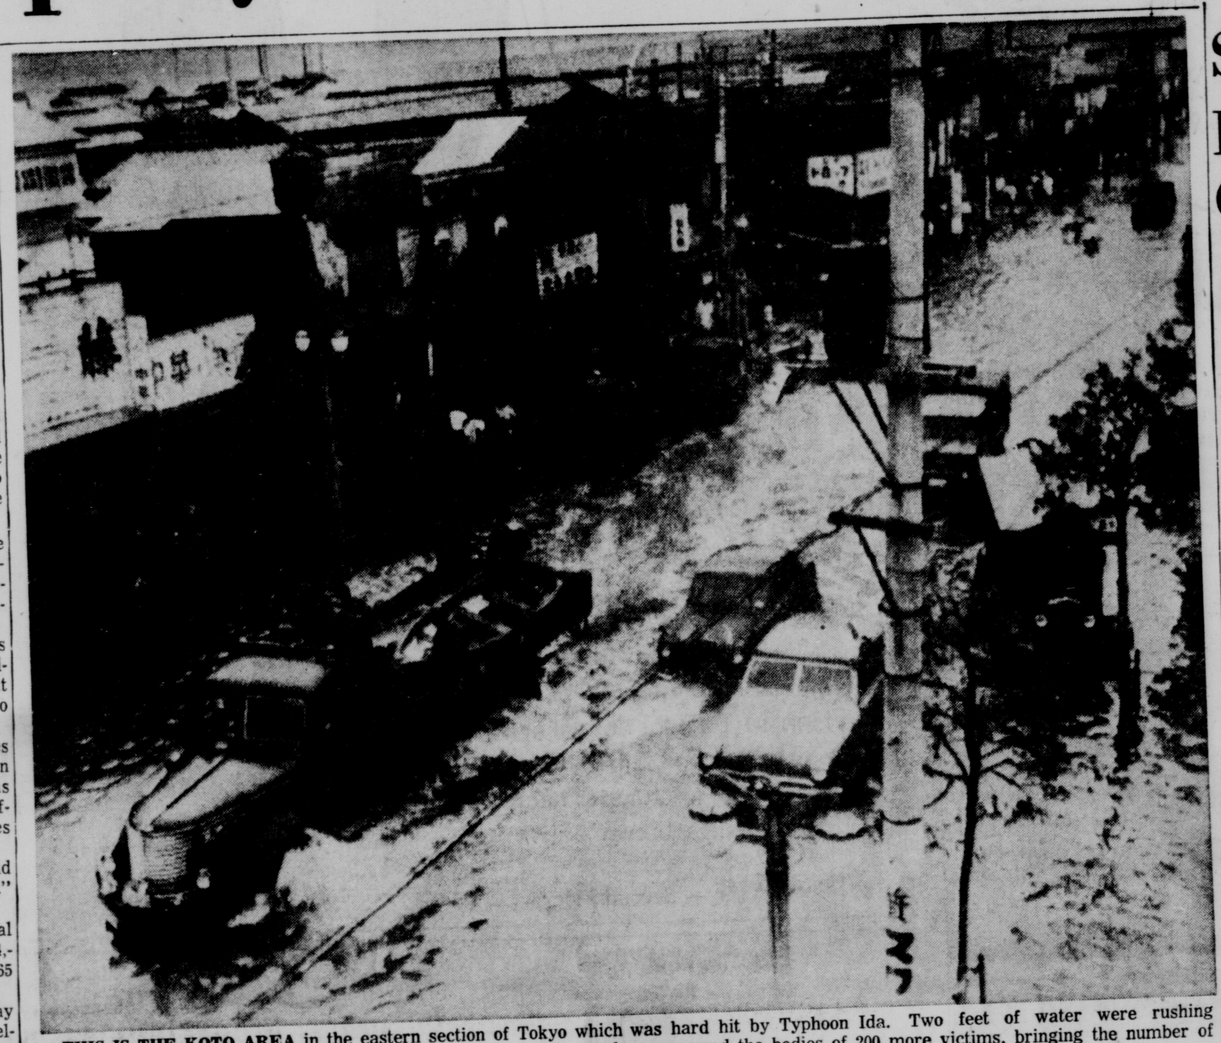

State Highway Patrol Capt. C.R. Williams estimated damage at Southport between $500,000 and $750,000.

Wilmington, the state's biggest coastal city, suffered an estimated million dollars damage, said the highway patrol. Most of this was to residences and businesses.

Farther up the coast, Mayor Pro Tem George Kanoutis of Kure Beach estimated property damage at $250,000, beach erosion at $30,000. Mayor Glenn M. Tucker estimated Carolina Beach damage at 1½ million dollars, but said no property owners were wiped out.

By Saturday afternoon Helene had passed the most densely populated areas. Her effect was felt several miles inland in rough weather and rains, but damage there was not severe. Later that evening she howled off toward the open sea.

Hurricane Helene probably was nearly as strong as Hurricane Hazel of 1954. But Helene kept her distance at sea. Hazel caused 21 deaths in the Carolinas and an estimated 145 million dollars damage in the two-state area alone.

THIS IS THE KOTO AREA in the eastern section of Tokyo which was hard hit by Typhoon Ida. Two feet of water were rushing through the streets when the photo was taken. Relief workers today recovered the bodies of 200 more victims, bringing the number of known dead from the weekend storm to 540. Police said 976 are still missing. (UPI Telephoto)

Step Taken In Face Of Court Duel

Lease Executed For Four Closed High School Units

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—The Little Rock School Board executed a lease today for four closed high school buildings, turning them over to a private group for operation as private, segregated schools.

With the approval of the state attorney general, the board went ahead with the leasing without waiting for federal court action in Omaha, Neb., where the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People is asking that the leasing deal be temporarily halted.

A two-judge court was scheduled to take up the NAACP request for a temporary restraining order at 10 a.m. (CST).

Apparently only action of a federal court session in Omaha, Neb., could prevent the schools from passing into private hands today and opening as segregated institutions later this week.

Members of the School Board and officials of the Little Rock Private School Corp. met with Arkansas Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett in closed session until after midnight.

As negotiations for the transfer continued, the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People moved swiftly to block the action.

"We might be out of business tomorrow," commented Dr. T. J. Raney, president of the private school group, in reference to the NAACP move.

The court session in Omaha will be conducted by two justices of the 8th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals. They will hear the NAACP petition presented by Wiley Branton of Pine Bluff, Ark., seeking to prevent any transfer of school property without court approval.

There was speculation here that the School Board deliberately delayed consummation of the school building transfer until after the judges rule.

A School Board source who declined to be identified said that if the court ordered the board not to lease the facilities, the order would be followed.

But without such an order, the board showed a readiness to comply with the public mandate of Saturday's referendum in which segregationists polled a near 3-1 majority.

Only one of the board's members appeared safe from a recall election, however.

Mrs. Margaret Jackson, president of the prosegregationist Central High Mothers League, said she planned to file a recall petition today aimed at four board members.

A fifth, Dr. Dale Alford, is an outspoken segregationist.

Television classes continued for the city's 3,000-odd idled high school students, classless since Gov. Orval E. Faubus closed the schools Sept. 15 under powers granted him by a special session of the Legislature.

The far-flung Little Rock case also was scheduled to crop up again in Washington, D. C., today. The U. S. Supreme Court planned to issue a formal opinion spelling out its Sept. 12 order that the School Board continue its plan of gradual desegregation.

While the battle simmered over converting public schools into private ones, one private school did announce plans to open and met no opposition.

The Rev. Wade Wright Egbert, an Episcopal minister, said classes would begin today for 28 students in the Trinity Episcopal Cathedral's parish hall.

In French Referendum

Sweeping Victory Won By DeGaulle

PARIS (AP) — Premier de Gaulle has won his fight. Returns from the most sweeping referendum in French history today gave him a resounding personal triumph and a strong constitution for a new Fifth Republic.

The Fifth Republic will be proclaimed in the official journal next Sunday. And France will enter into a new, more powerful system of government so daring that many Frenchmen gasped at the conception while they voted their approval by a landslide Sunday.

Voters of continental France approved the new constitution by a margin of almost 4-1.

Complete official tabulations in France showed 17,666,828 "yes" votes and 4,624,475 "no" votes. There was a record turnout of 84.9 per cent of France's registered voters. Counting all those who sent to the polls, including some who cast blank ballots, the new constitution was approved by 78.5 per cent.

With one exception—French Guinea in West Africa—the overseas lands of the erstwhile French empire also backed the constitution to the hilt. This set them up with France on the world political stage as a "French community," a sort of global confederation, with commonwealth status and even independence waiting in the wings.

Even the "no" vote of independence-minded Guinea made little impression in the general massive outpouring of approval that exceeded even the most optimistic estimates.

The landslide raised the prospect that De Gaulle, the 67-year-old World War II hero restored to leadership in a rightist uprising last May, can almost write his own ticket to cure the sicknesses of this long ailing country. Chief of these is the four-year-old Algerian rebellion.

De Gaulle probably will become president, with powers that no French chief of state has enjoyed since Emperor Napoleon III was overthrown in 1870.

In the interval, France has deliberately maintained a strong legislature and a weak executive.

De Gaulle's dramatic victory was the worst electoral black eye the Communists have suffered in postwar France. The Communists formed the largest bloc campaigning against de Gaulle's constitution. They said it would open the way to dictatorship.

Gaullist leaders hailed the results as a decisive blow at the Reds, who have hamstrung French politics with disruptive tactics and the biggest single voting bloc—148 deputies—in the 596-seat National Assembly.

Approval of the constitution automatically rejects the old Assembly. De Gaulle now has four months of near-dictorial powers in which he will write a new election law to seat a new Assembly.

Elections probably will come in late November or early December.

Alert, Smiling At Press Conference

Will Bomb Red Guns If Need Arises, Chiang Says In Talking Of U.S. Aid

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — President Chiang Kai-shek said today his Nationalist air force will bomb the Communist guns ringing Quemoy when and if the "crucial moment arises."

He added he felt the United States would back him if that time came.

He said this moment would come when the lives of the 130,000 troops and civilians on the outpost fortress are in danger either from the effects of the Communist artillery blockade or other military action.

"When the crucial moment arises I feel the United States will not fall back on its promises to help," he stated. "But the crucial moment has not yet arisen."

"But we will act on our own regardless (of the U.S. attitude) when it comes a question of life and death," he said.

He emphasized Nationalist China is under no obligations to the United States that would prevent it from taking action it feels necessary for its own defense.

Chiang spoke at his first open news conference since Feb. 7, 1955.

Alert and smiling, he also made these points:

1. Nationalist China is following a policy of restraint in the face of heavy losses by Quemoy's civilians and soldiers.

2. It might agree to a United Nations debate on the Formosa crisis under certain conditions.

3. The Red artillery blockade has been rendered temporarily ineffective by air drops and supply efforts.

4. There will never be any need for U.S. ground troops to help defend Quemoy.

Chiang spoke as the Chinese Reds carried their artillery assaults against the Quemoy islands into the 38th day with a relatively light shelling.

By Nationalist Defense Ministry count, 1,009 shells were fired on the islands up to midday today, and 4,552 Sunday.

Nationalist cargo planes dropped supplies on little Tatan Island for the first time and on Quemoy for the sixth straight night, correspondents reported Sunday night. Another Nationalist convoy shoved supplies to the islands by ship despite Red barrages.

Although Chiang said the Red blockade was now ineffective, correspondents on Quemoy said the 5,700 civilians on neighboring Little Quemoy were beginning to run short of food and medicines. Two-thirds of their homes were reported destroyed.

The Nationalists claimed their Quemoy artillery sank 22 small Communist Chinese supply boats and damaged three others in an action Sunday.

Earlier, Rear Adm. Liu Hoh-tu, chief Nationalist military spokesman, spelled out the circumstances under which Chiang's air force would bomb Red gun positions on the mainland.

Talks Bolster Peace Hopes For Formosa

WARSAW (AP) —Hopes soared today that statements from Washington and Peiping had given a new lease on life to the Formosa talks and eased war threats.

The Warsaw talks between U.S. Ambassador Jacob Beam and Chinese Communist envoy Wang Ping-nan entered their third week today. The envoys hold their fifth meeting Tuesday.

Among developments which diplomats considered conciliatory was the declaration by Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai Sunday that the Red Chinese "do not give up their efforts to find a solution to the disputes between China and the United States through peaceful negotiations."

That was what the diplomats had left after they had stripped away much anti-American verbiage from Chou's Peiping broadcast. Among other statements, he said Communist China would lead the United States to "final and complete disaster if the United States insists on provoking war."

In Washington an announcement on the details of the closed-door talks was postponed beyond the date such an announcement had been expected. This was interpreted as meaning that the highest quarters expected new developments.

It had been reported that if Washington became convinced the talks were fruitless the United States would disclose the details and take the case to the United Nations.

Communist circles here began taking a cheerful view after a secret meeting of Communist Chinese Ambassador Wang with Communist newsmen. Wang was reported to have told them, in general terms, that everything would turn out all right.

Sunday's statement by Chou was regarded as the highest ranking use of what diplomats here call the 40-hour technique. They say that 40 hours before each meeting between Wang and Ambassador Beam the Chinese have issued a press statement which sets the tone for Wang.

Election Victory Won By Adenauer's Party

KIEL, Germany (AP)—A West German swing toward the two-party system was pointed up today by an election victory of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's Christian Democrats over the Socialists in Schleswig-Holstein.

The Christian Democrats won 33 seats in the 69-member Parliament of West Germany's northernmost state in balloting Sunday.

The Socialists, the only strong opposition, picked up one seat for a total of 26.

West Virginia Highway Plan Draws Attack

CHARLESTON (AP)—A highway budget laid out by the legislature would cause "numerous delays in carrying out the road program," the West Virginia road Commission said today.

Under a fixed road budget, emergencies and other unforseen events would already have required three or four special sessions of the Legislature this year to make budget changes, the SRC said.

Those comments were part of the SRC's reply to a preliminary report made last month by a special roads subcommittee of the legislature's Joint Committee on Government and Finance. The subcommittee report dealt with SRC finances.

The SRC submitted the reply to the Committee on Government and Finance as it convened this morning for a two-day meeting. I.. session with the joint committee as usual was a companion legislative group, the Commission on Interstate Cooperation.

Question Mark For Clock

Now We're In New Zone: Eastern Confusing Time!

For the next 26 days, the hands of the clock will form a hypothetical question mark for residents of Eastern Ohio, Western Pennsylvania and Northern West Virginia because of the annual confusion between Daylight Saving Time and Eastern Standard Time.

Because some areas have a combination of EST and DST, East Liverpool is in the center of a new zone that might be called Eastern Confusing Time (ECT).

Some clocks went back to standard time at 2 a. m. Sunday—the traditional switch on the last Sunday in September.

Others will remain an hour ahead of sun time until 2 a. m. Oct. 26, the "newfangled" date that originated in the New York City area a few years ago.

East Liverpool and most of the nearby area will remain on fast time until the last Sunday of October. A few scattered districts elected to switch back to slow time yesterday. In some communities, schools are operating on one time and other business is regulated according to a different system.

A special meeting of the Stanton Local School District Board of Education will be held tonight at Irondale High School at 8:30 (DST) to discuss the time situation.

Irondale reverted to Eastern Standard Time Sunday but other communities within the school district, including Hammondsville, were undecided. A time policy for the entire school district may be decided tonight.

Light Frost Reported In Some County Areas

A light touch of frost was reported in some areas of the tri-state district early this morning, but it was not much of a threat to crops and flowers.

Edwin Copeland, U. S. weather observer at Millport, said he saw no frost in his area, but said there may have been some light frost in low areas. Copeland report a low overnight temperature of 29 degrees.

Frost was reported in the East Palestine district and other areas. Copeland said if any areas did have frost, it was so light that it would not be very damaging. Copeland said the first killing frost generally arrives around Oct. 4, according to his records.

Test Weapon Blows Up At Nevada Base

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (AP) —A nuclear test weapon exploded with shattering impact today over the atom-blasted sands of the Nevada proving ground.

The device, packing half the power of the A-bomb that leveled Hiroshima in World War II, was detonated while hanging from a balloon 1,500 feet in the air.

The explosion outshown the rising sun and sent a heavy shock wave rumbling across the desert.

Newsmen clustered on a hill 10 miles away felt the jolt.

Light winds carried the fallout from the mushroom cloud directly toward the observer's post. Forecasters had warned of this.

The test was the second in the current series being conducted by the Atomic Energy Commission. It has been postponed twice.

The devices being tested are small as atom bombs go. Today's was rated at 10 kilotons.

Light Frost Reported In Some County Areas

A light touch of frost was reported in some areas of the tri-state district early this morning, but it was not much of a threat to crops and flowers.

Edwin Copeland, U. S. weather observer at Millport, said he saw no frost in his area, but said there may have been some light frost in low areas. Copeland report a low overnight temperature of 29 degrees.

Frost was reported in the East Palestine district and other areas. Copeland said if any areas did have frost, it was so light that it would not be very damaging. Copeland said the first killing frost generally arrives around Oct. 4, according to his records.

Test Weapon Blows Up At Nevada Base

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (AP) —A nuclear test weapon exploded with shattering impact today over the atom-blasted sands of the Nevada proving ground.

The device, packing half the power of the A-bomb that leveled Hiroshima in World War II, was detonated while hanging from a balloon 1,500 feet in the air.

The explosion outshown the rising sun and sent a heavy shock wave rumbling across the desert.

Newsmen clustered on a hill 10 miles away felt the jolt.

Light winds carried the fallout from the mushroom cloud directly toward the observer's post. Forecasters had warned of this.

The test was the second in the current series being conducted by the Atomic Energy Commission. It has been postponed twice.

The devices being tested are small as atom bombs go. Today's was rated at 10 kilotons.

Chiang

These were: If the Reds cut off food supplies to the offshore islands to the point where the people and the defenders were facing famine, and if ammunition supplies were cut to the point where the garrison did not have enough reserves to cope with an invasion.

Chiang's last open news conference in 1955 was on the eve of Nationalist China's withdrawal from the Tachen Islands, 200 miles north of Formosa. The withdrawal was covered by the U.S. 7th Fleet.

The 71-year-old generalissimo walked briskly into the conference room today and fielded questions easily for more than an hour.

"Negotiations of any type with the Communists are futile and this includes talks now under way at Warsaw," the President said.

"Americans should not be so anxious for a cease-fire," he declared. "The Communists cannot continue their blockade and bombardment indefinitely. We must remain firm."

"Now is the time to bomb the mainland guns," he stated at one time. "But we are following a policy of restraint and have not acted out of consideration of the spirit of the U.S.-Chinese Mutual Defense Treaty and U.S. policy."

Chiang at first said the Nationalist government stand on debating the Formosa Strait crisis in the United Nations was under study.

He later said China would agree to the debate if the hostilities spread and there was evidence the Soviet Union was behind the aggression.

As to the blockade of Quemoy, he said, it "is not as serious today as it was at the beginning of the present Red attacks. The fighting has proved the Communists cannot succeed by using an artillery blockade."

"Now is the time to bomb the mainland guns," he stated at one time. "But we are following a policy of restraint and have not acted out of consideration of the spirit of the U.S.-Chinese Mutual Defense Treaty and U.S. policy."

Chiang at first said the Nationalist government stand on debating the Formosa Strait crisis in the United Nations was under study.

He later said China would agree to the debate if the hostilities spread and there was evidence the Soviet Union was behind the aggression.

As to the blockade of Quemoy, he said, it "is not as serious today as it was at the beginning of the present Red attacks. The fighting has proved the Communists cannot succeed by using an artillery blockade."

Woman Waits Hearing After Liquor Search

A Chester woman is scheduled for a hearing this afternoon at 4 before Squire John D. Herron of New Cumberland on a charge of illegal sale of liquor following her arrest over the weekend by West Virginia State Police during a raid on the Clover Bar in Hancock County.

Janice Thiess, 21, posted $100 bond for an appearance today for selling alcoholic liquor to a plain-clothes police officer on Sept. 12.

State Police from Weirton obtained a warrant from Squire Herron and searched the Route 2 establishment early Saturday night, but did not find any liquor.

Saturday's raid on the Clover Bar, formerly konwn as the Pines, was conducted by Troopers J. J. Abott and D. L. Lake, who have been spearheading a recent drive to clamp down on Hancock's illegal liquor operations.

Oliver W. Watson of the Music Bar in Chester was scheduled for a hearing this afternoon at 3 before Squire Herron on a charge of illegal possession of liquor. He was arrested by State Police last Tuesday night and posted a $300 bond for today's hearing.

Speaking Their Language

The recent rash of news stories reporting the introduction of Russian language courses in schools around the nation is symptomatic of a campaign to improve this country's linguistic abilities.

The federal government got into the act early this month with the passage of the National Defense Education Act, providing grants to promote the study of foreign languages. As the name of the law implies, officials feel such study is tied closely to the nation's security and to East-West competition.

The campaign is designed to reverse a long trend in the United States. A survey four years ago showed that more than one-half of the nation's public high schools offered no instruction in modern languages and that scarcely 15 per cent of all the children in high school were studying foreign language. Only about one-third of American colleges placed languages among entrance requirements, contrasted to 90 per cent in 1913.

The effect of this non-language trend was first felt seriously in World War II, when troops and military government men saw duty in far corners of the earth. The need has increased in the postward period, not only for the Foreign Service and the armed forces, but also among technicians in foreign assistance jobs, scientists who must keep abreast of developments abroad int heir fields and teachers called on to instruct these groups.

The State Department has been forced to relax its language requirements for candidates for the Foreign Service and then furnish, at considerable expense, the necessary instruction after hiring. The Army, Navy, Air Force and Central Intelligence Agency also teach languages to selected personnel.

By contrast, the Kremlin puts high emphasis on English and other languages in the public schools. The U.S. Office of Education reports that 45 per cent of all secondary school students and 65 per cent of all college students in the Soviet study English. Smaller numbers concentrate on the tongues of remote countries where they may go later as technicians. Advanced students of a given language are required to study other subjects in that language rather than in Russian.

Many other countries do as well or better in their foreign language programs, sometimes starting instructions in the lower grades. American tourists are often amazed to find language almost no problem at all in their European travels because so many natives can communicate in English.

Fluency in "all the sounds of Babel" could well prove to be a strategic weapon in the ultimate outcome of the Cold War.

For men are most often impressed by the fellow who "speaks my language."

Little Stakes In Big Enterprise

The phenomenal broadening of the base of stock ownership in the United States has become an increasingly familiar story in the last few years. The stock market's recent trend toward new record highs as the economy moves out of its slump has re-emphasized the importance of the small investors.

A survey made by the New York Stock Exchange in 1952 showed there were 6.5 million stockholders in the nation. Another study in 1956 revealed an astonishing 2.1 million increase. A reliable business magazine now estimates the total number at "about 10 million, or one out of every 17 Americans."

No small part of the picture is the role played by investment clubs, which have grown as rapidly. The National Association of Investment Clubs put its 1953 membership at 112 groups. It now includes 3,224 clubs with 45,000 members, and its chairman, Thomas E. O'Hara, predicts that one million members will be enrolled within the next few years. All told, the clubs invest at a rate of about $2 million a month.

But the clubs themselves are usually small, modest operations, generally limited to about 15 members. They pay small amounts monthly into a pool and the sums are used to buy securities, mostly common stocks. Their modest size does not necessarily hamper their effectiveness. One Detroit club since 1951 has invested $26,000 plus $34,000 in reinvested earnings. The common stocks portfolio of the group has mounted to $85,000, even though members have withdrawn more than $22,000.

Most brokers encourage the clubs, because surveys indicate about 40 per cent of club members proceed to buy stocks on their own.

Besides the increasing strength they pour into the American free enterprise system, investors must give the Kremlin's propaganda boys some real headaches.

It is no doubt getting hard and harder for them to distinguish between the "proletariat" and the "capitalist ruling classes."

Crime Still Does Not Pay

The 24-million-dollar construction program of the State Division of Correction to provide space for 2,000 more inmates and to improve psychiatric services for prisoners is another shot in the arm for the current Ohio drive to modernize its institutional facilities.

But it is also another indication of the increasingly high cost of crime — to society as a whole. As prison chief M. C. Koblentz declared after the announcement of the division's program, present crime rates in Ohio may well outdate the expansion plan before it is completed two or three years hence.

The state now confines 11,500 prisoners with a net prison population increas of 500 a year. Court commitments are reported 20 per cent higher this year alone. Officials have recognized for some time that the new 12-million-dollar Lebanon reformatory for southern Ohio — considered entirely adequate at the time of design — will be outgrown before its completion in 1960.

As Mr. Koblentz stated, the best solution to the problem is to halt it before it develops — by cutting the crime rate. But that is the ideal solution to any problem, and the ideal goal in any complex situation is usually the hardest to attain.

Experts and amateurs of every variety—criminologists, penologists, judges, sociologists, law enforcement officers, case workers, churchmen, parents, educators and concerned citizens — have devoted endless effort to the innumerable phases of crime, seeking to understand its causes and find its remedies. As in the fight against baffling physical diseases, there are heartening breakthroughs here and there but failure and discouragement elsewhere.

Still the effort quite justifiably continues. For a 24-million-dollar building program, expensive as it is to taxpayers, is but a minute manifestation of the total cost to society in human tragedy, hampered progress and property loss.

The headache of trying to keep abreast of the need for cell space is strikingly parallel to the all-too-familiar headache of trying keep abreast of the need for classrooms.

But the latter represents an investment. What sobers — even frightens — is pondering how much the former represents only waste.

Murder Of Words

By Frank Tripp

The extravagant use of terms of endearment and profuse superlatives no longer can be excused as a harmless feminine trait. Women have lost their monopoly on the confusion that exaggeration creates.

Airborne commercials are so loaded with it that listeners are becoming insensible to adjectives that once meant "the mostest."

If the Taj Mahal or the Grand Canyon should ever go on the market, there are no words left to describe them. They've all been dehorned on filters, cosmetics and detergents.

Superlatives are becoming suspect; warning signals in the field of salesmanship. The influence of the "soft sell" is mounting. Madison Ave. will learn that the public really does think.

MORE THAN think, people also apply their own adjectives to products, and are not suspicious of superlatives of their own choice. It is the process by which a customer unconsciously sells himself, instead of arguing with "hard sell" tactics and pitchman persuasion.

And look at what's happened to "dear," "darling" and their love bird synonyms. Once they expressed an honest emotion. Their sincerity is long lost.

Whoever introduced "dear" into hard-boiled commercial use belonged in a love seat with Zsa Zsa Gabor or a cocktail booth with Tallulah Bankhead.

"Dear sir," starts the letter. Then the guy proceeds to tell you that you're a skunk and indicates where you can go.

"You Stinker" would be an honest salutation on much of the morning mail. But by crazy precedent everybody is a "dear." You can't blame that on Zsa Zsa or Tallulah. I think that's how they got that way.

After he's told you off, the hyprocrite who hates your hide signs off with an affectionate "Very truly yours." What he means is "nuts to you."

MEANINGS GET mixed up enough without deliberate misrepresentation. It is a headache to writers. I'm in it up to my ears right now.

Memberships are piling in for a "Union for the Unorganized" that this column suggested for fixed income people pinched by inflation. The idea that such a union is needed because none exists was stated plainly. But that didn't stop 'em.

Even checks came to pay the senders' dues. Too bad they had to be returned, for there is no such "union." Yet there's a ready - made membership awaiting, it seems.

Confusion over words is of wide variety, yet follows a pattern of careless reading more often than careless writing. No matter how plainly a thing is stated there are always those who get an opposite meaning — and the mail starts.

Lately, in a column about pennies, I waxed nostalgic and said that "I would gladly pay $100 for a certain Indian head penny; the identical first penny that I ever earned" — 70 years ago.

Well, it happened. The word "identical" failed to reveal the nostalgia.

You'd be surprised how many people can product that very same penny, and are waiting for me to send them the hundred bucks.

None has yet claimed that my initials are engraved on it — or that the Indian says that he remembers me well.

Be patient; even that could happen.

An ingot is a mass of metal cast into a convenient shape for handling.

Okay, If We Can Keep Ducking

Congress Begins To Swing 'Left'

By David Koonce

The upcoming 86th Congress, convening next January, will be less conservative, more liberal, than any Congress since the days of the New Deal.

This already can be said with certainty because:

Of the seven senators (all Republicans) and 42 representatives (31 Republicans and 11 Democrats) who are either retiring, have died in the past Congress or have been defeated in primaries or the Maine election, most are conservatives.

Of the 21 Republicans facing reelection this year, eight can be closely identified with the old line conservative wing of their party. These make up just about half of what is left of the powerful GOP conservative group, which numbered 25 ten years ago. In five of these eight contests, Democrats are given a decided advantage.

Most notable among the retiring Republican conservatives is Sen. William F. Knowland of California, the minority leader and a protege of Sen. Robert A. Taft. Both of the men seeking Sen. Knowland's seat, Democratic Rep. Clair Engle and Republican Gov. Goodwin Knight, are far to the left of the rightwing position where Sen. Knowland has always stood.

OTHERS RETIRING include Sen. William E. Jenner of Indiana, the old pal of Sen. McCarthy, and Sen. Edward Martin of Pennsylvania, a stalwart fiscal conservative.

In the house, most of the Republicans who are not seeking reelection come from the conservative wing. They include Reps. Scudder of California, Nicholson of Massachusetts, O'Hara of Minnesota, Latham, Gwinn and Radwan of New York; Krueger of North Dakota, Clevenger and Jenkins of Ohio and James of Pennsylvania.

Only seven Senate Democrats outside the "safe" South face reelection this year, and only one of these seven, Sen. Proxmire of Wisconsin, is running into any real trouble.

The significance of the growing weakness of the conservatives and the increasing strength of the liberals is great, and it has meaning far beyond a mere realignment of political strength in Congress.

For one thing, any real gain for Democratic liberals may finally free them and their whole party in Congress from the historic domination by southern conservatives. This, of course, will improve their chances of amending Senate Rule XXII, which permits use of the filibuster.

There may be some Democrats who will be confident enough of their strength to try to legislate school integration.

THERE LIKELY will be other changes, too. With the departure of Sen. Knowland and Jenner, two of the most vociferous and often effective voices raised against the Eisenhower foreign policy — supported in a large measure by Democrats — will be silenced.

And the new Congress will certainly see the Taft wing weakened there.

Three of the retiring Republican senators are members of the Finance Committee — Martin who is top-ranking Republican on the committee and a devout "tight money" advocate; Jenner, and Flanders of Vermont.

This is a committee that in recent years has been growing progressively more liberal in its membership. Other conservatives —George, Taft, Millikin and Butler of Nebraska — are gone, and now will be followed by Senators Knowland and Jenner. Meanwhile, although conservative Sen. Byrd is still chairman, the "easy money" senators — Kerr, Douglas, Gore and Long — have increased their seniority and their influence.

In the House, four of the 20 Republicans on the Appropriations Committee are retiring, and they all have been opponents of heavy government spending.

The changes in these two committees could well mean more spending on foreign aid, welfare programs — and, of course, higher taxes for everybody.

Specifically this could mean success, finally, for proponents of federal school aid higher and broader minimum wage coverage, and more spending for relief.

But nothing is altogether pat in politics.

An increased number of Democratic liberals in Congress, especially if they should be violently aggressive, might widen the chasm between the Southern Democrats and their colleagues from other sections.

The Forgotten Majority

By Raymond Moley

This writer has frequently had occasion to criticize sharply the activities of the Robert Hutchins Fund for the Republic. On this present occasion he is most happy to greet with considerable satisfaction a new study under the fund's auspices.

This analysis concerns itself with a very large group in what it calls the "middle-middle class."

This group, it estimates, consists of 25 to 30 per cent of the American people who have, either voluntarily or for other reasons, abandoned political life and — I might add — reduced themselves to a level of second-class citizens.

This study was made by Prof. Andrew Hacker of Cornell University.

Prof. Hacker's estimate of the size of this group is, I believe, altogether too high. But considering the capacity and talent of its members, its abstention from political life loses for a much greater number the leadership essential in a republican society.

THAT GREATER number comprises a big majority of what, instead of using the non-American word "class," I have long since called the "middle interests." The result has been the dominance of organized minorities — "hard cores," as it were, capable of controlling many areas of political life and fast becoming the prevailing element in Congress and State Legislatures.

The Hacker study has to do with younger corporation executives, technical people, salesmen and the like who are employed by corporations having national operations and markets.

Perhaps because of their fear of disapproval from the higher-ups in their companies, they take a certain regrettable pride in being "non political," or, to use a much-abused word, "independent."

They believe, or say they believe, that politics is bad for their business.

Many of these are casual in their relationships with the suburban communities in which they have their legal residence and in which they raise their children and pay their local tares.

Prof. Hacker calls them "corporate citizens," since their bounties and future security are rooted in the paternalistic corporations with which they are connected.

Perhaps I am putting my own interpretation on the study but in most cases these big corporations have placed their political interests in the hands of their Washington representatives who, in their contacts with lawmakers, believe they are protecting their companies' interests.

BUT SINCE the rise of powerful labor organizations which concentrate on politics at the state and local level, the legislators to whom these Washington representatives talk owe their election to forces other than the corporations.

I have not seen the entire study and am depending upon a newspaper account. I believe, however, that it should be added that many big corporations are, not only removing the barriers to political activity by their employes but are encouraging their participations.

In the same newspaper in which the account of Prof. Hacker's study is printed, there appeared a statement by a top executive of the Gulf Oil Corporation, encouraging more political participation by all those related to the company. General Electric has long followed the same course. Many other big concerns are stressing the need.

What is needed is not more activity by corporations themselves but encouragement and permission to the great numbers of employes who can capably provide leadership for the vast majority of Americans in the average incomes.

These — the forgotten majority —are without political leadership now. They must pay the greatest part of the taxes which are levied and dissipated by those legislators who have been elected to serve organized minorities.

Herein is the way toward a more representative government.

Long Live The Republic!

By William L. Ryan

De Gaulle Does A Remarkable Job

The vote throughout metropolitan France and her overseas departments Sunday has written finis to the Fourth Republic. As the French would say, long live the Fifth Republic!

The conception was the work of a master politician, and the new constitution is a most remarkable document. Gen. de Gaulle has achieved the astonishing feat of satisfying almost everybody in France—except the Communists.

The constitution now offers the country a chance to rescue itself from the hopeless mess engendered by the dogged political individualism of the average Frenchman. One wonders whether even the French will find a way of wrecking the chance.

There is a touch of grandeur in the bold sweep of this document, which will stand as an immense tribute to the sagacity and political daring of Premier de Gaulle himself. He has given France a real chance of putting an end to the chronic instability which has brought an average of almost two governments a year in the 14 years since the country was liberated from the Nazis.

De Gaulle has been able to overcome the gnawing French fear of the political strongman, and the country now is headed for a strong central government. He has given France a chance, too, to overcome the unhealthy effects of splinter party activities. At last there will be a check on the Assembly's violent politics. The splinter groups no longer will be so easily able to wield a balance of power and thus exercise so large a measure of control over national policies.

The National Assembly will be elected by universal national suffrage. The Senate will be chosen by indirect vote. But the key to the future is in the executive.

The new basic law provides for election of the President by an electoral college made up of about 80,000 persons. These are the elected members of Parliament and the elected municipal councillors and mayors in some 38,000 communes. Some of the communes are tiny villages from which only the mayor will vote. In others, the mayor and a number of councillors will be in the college.

The vote for President thus provides representation for the whole country. But the vote will be heavily weighted to the conservative side among the local councillors. The result thus indicates a strongly conservative chief executive, vested with important powers. The hand of the master politician is evident in this.

France's leftists and even centrists who longed for a government with sufficient staying power to carry out long-term policies can see their answer in the new constitution. But the conservatives and even the extreme right can hope they will have more representation in the government than the popular vote alone would provide.

According to the division of the National Assembly, the President will select the Premier. But the President will preside over meetings of the Cabinet, and he will have the power to dismiss the Premier. In addition, there will be limitations on motions of censure, even when such votes succeed in discrediting a premier, the President will represent the continuity of the government.

De Gaulle's political daring also was evident in his challenge to the overseas territories. In the teeth of rising nationalist agitation all over the colonial and former colonial world, the territories were told the constitutional referendum would decide whether they would secede from the French Union or seek their future in partnership with metropolitan France.

There will be many trials and challenges ahead for this new constitution. But the rest of the world will be watching with deep interest the birth of the Fifth Republic to judge whether at last France has come determinedly to grips with the basic political problems which have been robbing her of her rightful stature among the world's great nations.

One Man's Opinions

By William L. Howland

(Editor's Note: Some of T. T.'s readers have written vacation columns for him again this year. Today's essayist is a lawyer.)

It was Uncle Ben Franklin, that homme du monde, that versatile, sagacious and incisive American patriot who reportedly said: "I shall never ask, never refuse, nor ever resign an office." On this predicate, behold the anomaly of a lawyer writing a newspaper column. The lawyer might well have followed his own advice, kept closed his mouth and be thought a fool rather than open it and remove all doubt.

Every columnist seems to utilize his allotted space to tell the world what he likes and dislikes. So let it be.

I like television and consider it the greatest achievement of this decade. It will always be beyond my credence to realize that one can sit in the comfort of his den on a snowy winter evening, with the fire blazing in the fireplace, and watch and hear Dinah Shore perform in sunny California. Polly Bergen, moreover, is just about the most beautiful thing on television. "Suspicion", without repeats, "Wells Fargo" (and isn't Dale Robertson's horse a beauty?) and "Have Gun Will Travel" provide good entertainment. But Westerns where the hero—the good man—sometimes loses are no good. The hero should always win, whether the battle be one of words, fists or guns.

"My Fair Lady" is the best Broadway musical yet. It is without smut, yet vivacious, and the music will be remembered. The best seats are front row, center, first balcony—with binoculars. The present leading lady, Sally Ann Howes is one of the loveliest and talented ladies who I have yet gazed upon. If you have seen the play, now read George Bernard Shaw's "Pygmalion" from which it was bodily lifted. If you haven't seen the play, see it.

A delightful book, which I shunned when I should have read it, which will thrill you is the "Cyrano de Bergerac" by Edmond Rostand. Try the Brian Hooker translation. Then try to see Jose Ferrer, in his superb style, do the title role. But if you really want to read, there is still nothing to compare with the Bible and Shakespeare. If one wants to learn but to save his eyes," get Alex Guiness's record of "MacBeth" or Laurence Olivier's platter of "Hamlet". Here is the English language at its best—pure, clear and comprehensible.

The segregation - integration issue is a complicated one, in which the thinking is basically and essentially emotional and pragmatic. It is nowise logical. Yet, although illogical, it pleads for caution. We cannot deny freedom to our fellow man, our neighbor, whatever his color, if we give even token acknowledgment to that greatest of all Constitutions, the Sermon on the Mount. Nor can we humanly insist that our other neighbor accept something which his experience and emotion tell him is wrong.

Integration has moved slowly but seems inevitable. But whether the quarrel be a family one, or a lawsuit, or an international crisis, moderation, compromise and mutual give - and - take must be the keynote. "Deliberate speed" seems to be double talk. Differences must be worked out, not fought out. Then what is to become of the Southern laws against miscegenation or racial intermarriage? In their destruction lies the crux of the South's fears.

Not all lawyers are trial lawyers. Not all trial lawyers are Perry Masons, or Ephraim Tutts or even Darrows, Leibovitzs, Fallons, Rogers or Geislers. Few lawyers are actually as portrayed on television, radio, movie, newspaper or novel. The average lawyer's life would not stir the public fancy. Lawyers generally work hard, live well, and die poor. And they have contributed immeasurably through their ability and learning to what are these United States. As long as our government is one of laws and not of men, we must have trained lawyers.

Letter To The Editor

I would like to know what has happened to East Liverpool and to the people who once lived here.

If one will look back 50, or even 30 years, East Liverpool was one of the best known union towns in the nation. Now I understand that our Council and city officials have refused to come out in opposition to the so - called "Right - To-Work" law.

How long do you think they would have lasted 30 years ago. Now Gov. O'Neill has finally shown his true color. And, although you have not been quite so frank, I think by your editorial you also have shown where you stand. I also think the WOHI editor should be included. He takes up a lot of good radio time with some of the silliest hogwash I ever listened to.

Now what I really want to say is to the union men and women of the community: Nov. 4 is the day to show that the old fight and determination is just as hot and that we are just as determined as we were 30 or 50 years ago.

Speaking Their Language

The recent rash of news stories reporting the introduction of Russian language courses in schools around the nation is symptomatic of a campaign to improve this country's linguistic abilities.

The federal government got into the act early this month with the passage of the National Defense Education Act, providing grants to promote the study of foreign languages. As the name of the law implies, officials feel such study is tied closely to the nation's security and to East-West competition.

The campaign is designed to reverse a long trend in the United States. A survey four years ago showed that more than one-half of the nation's public high schools offered no instruction in modern languages and that scarcely 15 per cent of all the children in high school were studying foreign language. Only about one-third of American colleges placed languages among entrance requirements, contrasted to 90 per cent in 1913.

The effect of this non-language trend was first felt seriously in World War II, when troops and military government men saw duty in far corners of the earth. The need has increased in the postward period, not only for the Foreign Service and the armed forces, but also among technicians in foreign assistance jobs, scientists who must keep abreast of developments abroad int heir fields and teachers called on to instruct these groups.

The State Department has been forced to relax its language requirements for candidates for the Foreign Service and then furnish, at considerable expense, the necessary instruction after hiring. The Army, Navy, Air Force and Central Intelligenee Agency also teach languages to selected personnel.

By contrast, the Kremlin puts high emphasis on English and other languages in the public schools. The U.S. Office of Education reports that 45 per cent of all secondary school students and 65 per cent of all college students in the Soviet study English. Smaller numbers concentrate on the tongues of remote countries where they may go later as technicians. Advanced students of a given language are required to study other subjects in that language rather than in Russian.

Many other countries do as well or better in their foreign language programs, sometimes starting instructions in the lower grades. American tourists are often amazed to find language almost no problem at all in their European travels because so many natives can communicate in English.

Fluency in "all the sounds of Babel" could well prove to be a strategic weapon in the ultimate outcome of the Cold War.

For men are most often impressed by the fellow who "speaks my language."

Little Stakes In Big Enterprise

The phenomenal broadening of the base of stock ownership in the United States has become an increasingly familiar story in the last few years. The stock market's recent trend toward new record highs as the economy moves out of its slump has re-emphasized the importance of the small investors.

A survey made by the New York Stock Exchange in 1952 showed there were 6.5 million stockholders in the nation. Another study in 1956 revealed an astonishing 2.1 million increase. A reliable business magazine now estimates the total number at "about 10 million, or one out of every 17 Americans."

No small part of the picture is the role played by investment clubs, which have grown as rapidly. The National Association of Investment Clubs put its 1953 membership at 112 groups. It now includes 3,224 clubs with 45,000 members, and its chairman, Thomas E. O'Hara, predicts that one million members will be enrolled within the next few years. All told, the clubs invest at a rate of about $2 million a month.

But the clubs themselves are usually small, modest operations, generally limited to about 15 members. They pay small amounts monthly into a pool and the sums are used to buy securities, mostly common stocks. Their modest size does not necessarily hamper their effectiveness. One Detroit club since 1951 has invested $26,000 plus $34,000 in reinvested earnings. The common stocks portfolio of the group has mounted to $85,000, even though members have withdrawn more than $22,000.

Most brokers encourage the clubs, because surveys indicate about 40 per cent of club members proceed to buy stocks on their own.

Besides the increasing strength they pour into the American free enterprise system, investors must give the Kremlin's propaganda boys some real headaches.

It is no doubt getting hard and harder for them to distinguish between the "proletariat" and the "capitalist ruling classes."

Crime Still Does Not Pay

The 24-million-dollar construction program of the State Division of Correction to provide space for 2,000 more inmates and to improve psychiatric services for prisoners is another shot in the arm for the current Ohio drive to modernize its institutional facilities.

But it is also another indication of the increasingly high cost of crime — to society as a whole. As prison chief M. C. Koblentz declared after the announcement of the division's program, present crime rates in Ohio may well outdate the expansion plan before it is completed two or three years hence.

The state now confines 11,500 prisoners with a net prison population increas of 500 a year. Court commitments are reported 20 per cent higher this year alone. Officials have recognized for some time that the new 12-million-dollar Lebanon reformatory for southern Ohio — considered entirely adequate at the time of design — will be outgrown before its completion in 1960.

As Mr. Koblentz stated, the best solution to the problem is to halt it before it develops — by cutting the crime rate. But that is the ideal solution to any problem, and the ideal goal in any complex situation is usually the hardest to attain.

Experts and amateurs of every variety—criminologists, penologists, judges, sociologists, law enforcement officers, case workers, churchmen, parents, educators and concerned citizens — have devoted endless effort to the innumerable phases of crime, seeking to understand its causes and find its remedies. As in the fight against baffling physical diseases, there are heartening breakthroughs here and there but failure and discouragement elsewhere.

Still the effort quite justifiably continues. For a 24-million-dollar building program, expensive as it is to taxpayers, is but a minute manifestation of the total cost to society in human tragedy, hampered progress and property loss.

The headache of trying to keep abreast of the need for cell space is strikingly parallel to the all-too-familiar headache of trying keep abreast of the need for classrooms.

But the latter represents an investment. What sobers — even frightens — is pondering how much the former represents only waste.

Murder Of Words

By Frank Tripp

The extravagant use of terms of endearment and profuse superlatives no longer can be excused as a harmless feminine trait. Women have lost their monopoly on the confusion that exaggeration creates.

Airborne commercials are so loaded with it that listeners are becoming insensible to adjectives that once meant "the mostest."

If the Taj Mahal or the Grand Canyon should ever go on the market, there are no words left to describe them. They've all been dehorned on filters, cosmetics and detergents.

Superlatives are becoming suspect; warning signals in the field of salesmanship. The influence of the "soft sell" is mounting. Madison Ave. will learn that the public really does think.

MORE THAN think, people also apply their own adjectives to products, and are not suspicious of superlatives of their own choice. It is the process by which a customer unconsciously sells himself, instead of arguing with "hard sell" tactics and pitchman persuasion.

And look at what's happened to "dear," "darling," and their love bird synonyms. Once they expressed an honest emotion. Their sincerity is long lost.

Whoever introduced "dear" into hard-boiled commercial use belonged in a love seat with Zsa Zsa Gabor or a cocktail booth with Tallulah Bankhead.

"Dear sir," starts the letter. Then the guy proceeds to tell you that you're a skunk and indicates where you can go.

"You Stinker" would be an honest salutation on much of the morning mail. But by crazy precedent everybody is a "dear." You can't blame that on Zsa Zsa or Tallulah. I think that's how they got that way.

After he's told you off, the hyprocrite who hates your hide signs off with an affectionate "Very truly yours." What he means is "nuts to you."

MEANINGS GET mixed up enough without deliberate misrepresentation. It is a headache to writers. I'm in it up to my ears right now.

Memberships are piling in for a "Union for the Unorganized" that this column suggested for fixed income people pinched by inflation. The idea that such a union is needed because none exists was stated plainly. But that didn't stop 'em.

Even checks came to pay the senders' dues. Too bad they had to be returned, for there is no such "union." Yet there's a ready - made membership awaiting, it seems.

Confusion over words is of wide variety, yet follows a pattern of careless reading more often than careless writing. No matter how plainly a thing is stated there are always those who get an opposite meaning — and the mail starts.

Lately, in a column about pennies, I waxed nostalgic and said that "I would gladly pay $100 for a certain Indian head penny; the identical first penny that I ever earned" — 70 years ago.

Well, it happened. The word "identical" failed to reveal the nostalgia.

You'd be surprised how many people can product that very same penny, and are waiting for me to send them the hundred bucks.

None has yet claimed that my initials are engraved on it — or that the Indian says that he remembers me well.

Be patient; even that could happen.

Okay, If We Can Keep Ducking

By David Koonce

The upcoming 86th Congress, convening next January, will be less conservative, more liberal, than any Congress since the days of the New Deal.

This already can be said with certainty because:

Of the seven senators (all Republicans) and 42 representatives (31 Republicans and 11 Democrats) who are either retiring, have died in the past Congress or have been defeated in primaries or the Maine election, most are conservatives.

Of the 21 Republicans facing reelection this year, eight can be closely identified with the old line conservative wing of their party. These make up just about half of what is left of the powerful GOP conservative group, which numbered 25 ten years ago. In five of these eight contests, Democrats are given a decided advantage.

Most notable among the retiring Republican conservatives is Sen. William F. Knowland of California, the minority leader and a protege of Sen. Robert A. Taft. Both of the men seeking Sen. Knowland's seat, Democratic Rep. Clair Engle and Republican Gov. Goodwin Knight, are far to the left of the rightwing position where Sen. Knowland has always stood.

OTHERS RETIRING include Sen. William E. Jenner of Indiana, the old pal of Sen. McCarthy, and Sen. Edward Martin of Pennsylvania, a stalwart fiscal conservative.

In the house, most of the Republicans who are not seeking reelection come from the conservative wing. They include Reps. Scudder of California, Nicholson of Massachusetts, O'Hara of Minnesota, Latham, Gwinn and Radwan of New York; Krueger of North Dakota, Clevenger and Jenkins of Ohio and James of Pennsylvania.

Only seven Senate Democrats outside the "safe" South face reelection this year, and only one of these seven, Sen. Proxmire of Wisconsin, is running into any real trouble.

The significance of the growing weakness of the conservatives and the increasing strength of the liberals is great, and it has meaning far beyond a mere realignment of political strength in Congress.

For one thing, any real gain for Democratic liberals may finally free them and their whole party in Congress from the historic domination by southern conservatives. This, of course, will improve their chances of amending Senate Rule XXII, which permits use of the filibuster.

There may be some Democrats who will be confident enough of their strength to try to legislate school integration.

THERE LIKELY will be other changes, too. With the departure of Sen. Knowland and Jenner, two of the most vociferous and often effective voices raised against the Eisenhower foreign policy — supported in a large measure by Democrats — will be silenced.

And the new Congress will certainly see the Taft wing weakened there.

Three of the retiring Republican senators are members of the Finance Committee — Martin' who is top-ranking Republican on the committee and a devout "tight money" advocate; Jenner, and Flanders of Vermont.

This is a committee that in recent years has been growing progressively more liberal in its membership. Other conservatives —George, Taft, Millikin and Butler of Nebraska — are gone, and now will be followed by Senators Knowland and Jenner. Meanwhile, although conservative Sen. Byrd is still chairman, the "easy money" senators — Kerr, Douglas, Gore and Long — have increased their seniority and their influence.

In the House, four of the 20 Republicans on the Appropriations Committee are retiring, and they all have been opponents of heavy government spending.

The changes in these two committees could well mean more spending on foreign aid, welfare programs — and, of course, higher taxes for everybody.

Specifically this could mean success, finally, for proponents of federal school aid higher and broader minimum wage coverage, and more spending for relief.

But nothing is altogether pat in politics.

An increased number of Democratic liberals in Congress, especially if they should be violently aggressive, might widen the chasm between the Southern Democrats and their colleagues from other sections.

The Forgotten Majority

By Raymond Moley

This writer has frequently had occasion to criticize sharply the activities of the Robert Hutchins Fund for the Republic. On this present occasion he is most happy to greet with considerable satisfaction a new study under the fund's auspices.

This analysis concerns itself with a very large group in what it calls the "middle-middle class."

This group, it estimates, consists of 25 to 30 per cent of the American people who have, either voluntarily or for other reasons, abandoned political life and — I might add — reduced themselves to a level of second-class citizens.

This study was made by Prof. Andrew Hacker of Cornell University.

Prof. Hacker's estimate of the size of this group is, I believe, altogether too high. But considering the capacity and talent of its members, its abstention from political life loses for a much greater number the leadership essential in a republican society.

THAT GREATER number comprises a big majority of what, instead of using the non-American word "class," I have long since called the "middle interests." The result has been the dominance of organized minorities — "hard cores," as it were, capable of controlling many areas of political life and fast becoming the prevailing element in Congress and State Legislatures.

The Hacker study has to do with younger corporation executives, technical people, salesmen and the like who are employed by corporations having national operations and markets.

Perhaps because of their fear of disapproval from the higher-ups in their companies, they take a certain regrettable pride in being "non political," or, to use a much-abused word, "independent."

They believe, or say they believe, that politics is bad for their business.

Many of these are casual in their relationships with the suburban communities in which they have their legal residence and in which they raise their children and pay their local tares.

Prof. Hacker calls them "corporate citizens," since their bounties and future security are rooted in the paternalistic corporations with which they are connected.

Perhaps I am putting my own interpretation on the study but in most cases these big corporations have placed their political interests in the hands of their Washington representatives who, in their contacts with lawmakers, believe they are protecting their companies' interests.

BUT SINCE the rise of powerful labor organizations which concentrate on politics at the state and local level, the legislators to whom these Washington representatives talk owe their election to forces other than the corporations.

I have not seen the entire study and am depending upon a newspaper account. I believe, however, that it should be added that many big corporations are, not only removing the barriers to political activity by their employes but are encouraging their participations.

In the same newspaper in which the account of Prof. Hacker's study is printed, there appeared a statement by a top executive of the Gulf Oil Corporation, encouraging more political participation by all those related to the company. General Electric has long followed the same course. Many other big concerns are stressing the need.

What is needed is not more activity by corporations themselves but encouragement and permission to the great numbers of employes who can capably provide leadership for the vast majority of Americans in the average incomes.

These — the forgotten majority —are without political leadership now. They must pay the greatest part of the taxes which are levied and dissipated by those legislators who have been elected to serve organized minorities.

Herein is the way toward a more representative government.

Odd Facts

Long Live The Republic!

By William L. Ryan

De Gaulle Does A Remarkable Job

The vote throughout metropolitan France and her overseas departments Sunday has written finis to the Fourth Republic. As the French would say, long live the Fifth Republic!

The conception was the work of a master politician, and the new constitution is a most remarkable document. Gen. de Gaulle has achieved the astonishing feat of satisfying almost everybody in France—except the Communists.

The constitution now offers the country a chance to rescue itself from the hopeless mess engendered by the dogged political individualism of the average Frenchman. One wonders whether even the French will find a way of wrecking the chance.

There is a touch of grandeur in the bold sweep of this document, which will stand as an immense tribute to the sagacity and political daring of Premier de Gaulle himself. He has given France a real chance of putting an end to the chronic instability which has brought an average of almost two governments a year in the 14 years since the country was liberated from the Nazis.

De Gaulle has been able to overcome the gnawing French fear of the political strongman, and the country now is headed for a strong central government. He has given France a chance, too, to overcome the unhealthy effects of splinter party activities. At last there will be a check on the Assembly's violent politics. The splinter groups no longer will be so easily able to wield a balance of power and thus exercise so large a measure of control over national policies.

The National Assembly will be elected by universal national suffrage. The Senate will be chosen by indirect vote. But the key to the future is in the executive.

The new basic law provides for election of the President by an electoral college made up of about 80,000 persons. These are the elected members of Parliament and the elected municipal councillors and mayors in some 38,000 communes. Some of the communes are tiny villages from which only the mayor will vote. In others, the mayor and a number of councillors will be in the college.

The vote for President thus provides representation for the whole country. But the vote will be heavily weighted to the conservative side among the local councillors. The result thus indicates a strongly conservative chief executive, vested with important powers. The hand of the master politician is evident in this.

France's leftists and even centrists who longed for a government with sufficient staying power to carry out long-term policies can see their answer in the new constitution. But the conservatives and even the extreme right can hope they will have more representation in the government than the popular vote alone would provide.

According to the division of the National Assembly, the President will select the Premier. But the President will preside over meetings of the Cabinet, and he will have the power to dismiss the Premier. In addition, there will be limitations on motions of censure, even when such votes succeed in discrediting a premier, the President will represent the continuity of the government.

De Gaulle's political daring also was evident in his challenge to the overseas territories. In the teeth of rising nationalist agitation all over the colonial and former colonial world, the territories were told the constitutional referendum would decide whether they would secede from the French Union or seek their future in partnership with metropolitan France.

There will be many trials and challenges ahead for this new constitution. But the rest of the world will be watching with deep interest the birth of the Fifth Republic to judge whether at last France has come determinedly to grips with the basic political problems which have been robbing her of her rightful stature among the world's great nations.

One Man's Opinions

By William L. Howland

(Editor's Note: Some of T. T.'s readers have written vacation columns for him again this year. Today's essayist is a lawyer.)

It was Uncle Ben Franklin, that homme du monde, that versatile, sagacious and incisive American patriot who reportedly said: "I shall never ask, never refuse, nor ever resign an office." On this predicate, behold the anomaly of a lawyer writing a newspaper column. The lawyer might well have followed his own advice, kept closed his mouth and be thought a fool rather than open it and remove all doubt.

Every columnist seems to utilize his allotted space to tell the world what he likes and dislikes. So let it be.

I like television and consider it the greatest achievement of this decade. It will always be beyond my credence to realize that one can sit in the comfort of his den on a snowy winter evening, with the fire blazing in the fireplace, and watch and hear Dinah Shore perform in sunny California. Polly Bergen, moreover, is just about the most beautiful thing on television. "Suspicion", without repeats, "Wells Fargo" (and isn't Dale Robertson's horse a beauty?) and "Have Gun Will Travel" provide good entertainment. But Westerns where the hero—the good man—sometimes loses are no good. The hero should always win, whether the battle be one of words, fists or guns.

"My Fair Lady" is the best Broadway musical yet. It is without smut, yet vivacious, and the music will be remembered. The best seats are front row, center, first balcony—with binoculars. The present leading lady, Sally Ann Howes is one of the loveliest and talented ladies who I have yet gazed upon. If you have seen the play, now read George Bernard Shaw's "Pygmalion" from which it was bodily lifted. If you haven't seen the play, see it.

A delightful book, which I shunned when I should have read it, which will thrill you is the "Cyrano de Bergerac" by Edmond Rostand. Try the Brian Hooker translation. Then try to see Jose Ferrer, in his superb style, do the title role. But if you really want to read, there is still nothing to compare with the Bible and Shakespeare. If one wants to learn but to save his eyes," get Alex Guiness's record of "MacBeth" or Laurence Olivier's platter of "Hamlet". Here is the English language at its best—pure, clear and comprehensible.

The segregation - integration issue is a complicated one, in which the thinking is basically and essentially emotional and pragmatic. It is nowise logical. Yet, although illogical, it pleads for caution. We cannot deny freedom to our fellow man, our neighbor, whatever his color, if we give even token acknowledgment to that greatest of all Constitutions, the Sermon on the Mount. Nor can we humanly insist that our other neighbor accept something which his experience and emotion tell him is wrong.

Integration has moved slowly but seems inevitable. But whether the quarrel be a family one, or a lawsuit, or an international crisis, moderation, compromise and mutual give - and - take must be the keynote. "Deliberate speed" seems to be double talk. Differences must be worked out, not fought out. Then what is to become of the Southern laws against miscegenation or racial intermarriage? In their destruction lies the crux of the South's fears.

Not all lawyers are trial lawyers. Not all trial lawyers are Perry Masons, or Ephraim Tutts or even Darrows, Leibovitzs, Fallons, Rogers or Geislers. Few lawyers are actually as portrayed on television, radio, movie, newspaper or novel. The average lawyer's life would not stir the public fancy. Lawyers generally work hard, live well, and die poor. And they have contributed immeasurably through their ability and learning to what are these United States. As long as our government is one of laws and not of men, we must have trained lawyers.

Letter To The Editor

I would like to know what has happened to East Liverpool and to the people who once lived here.

If one will look back 50, or even 30 years, East Liverpool was one of the best known union towns in the nation. Now I understand that our Council and city officials have refused to come out in opposition to the so - called "Right - To-Work" law.

How long do you think they would have lasted 30 years ago. Now Gov. O'Neill has finally shown his true color. And, although you have not been quite so frank, I think by your editorial you also have shown where you stand. I also think the WOHI editor should be included. He takes up a lot of good radio time with some of the silliest hogwash I ever listened to.

Now what I really want to say is to the union men and women of the community: Nov. 4 is the day to show that the old fight and determination is just as hot and that we are just as determined as we were 30 or 50 years ago.

Q. How can I take proper care of a razor strop?

A. A few drops of sweet oil should be applied to the razor strop occasionally. Another suggestion is to dip it in hot water after using.

Q. How can I handle fish more easily when cleaning?

A. Try covering the fingers with salt, and see if it doesn't facilitate the work.

How Can I? ? ?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I take proper care of a razor strop?

A. A few drops of sweet oil should be applied to the razor strop occasionally. Another suggestion is to dip it in hot water after using.

Q. How can I handle fish more easily when cleaning?

A. Try covering the fingers with salt, and see if it doesn't facilitate the work.

Weekend Auto Mishaps Hurt 2 Pedestrians

Car Passenger, 18, Also Hurt In City's Accident Series

A passenger and two pedestrians were injured, none seriously, in weekend traffic accidents in the city, police reported.

The three women were treated at City Hospital for the injuries suffered in accidents Saturday night and Sunday afternoon.

Jane Uselton, 18, of 311 Beleek St. suffered a bruised right knee when the car in which she was a passenger was struck head on on Dresden Ave.

Police arrested Melvin Leroy Hughes, 18, of Chester R. D. 1 on a reckless driving charge after he pulled out of a service station and struck a car operated by Patrick J. Saling, 25, of 803½ Main St., Wellsville, in which Miss Uselton was a passenger.

Hughes forfeited a $31 bond today in Municipal Court. He told police his accelerator jammed and his car veered to the other side of the road and hit Saling's northbound auto.

The two drivers, along with Margaret Dickinson, 929 Wood St., and Robert Petty of R. D. 1, both of Wellsville, passengers in the Saling car, and Jack A. Smith, 336 Indiana Ave., Chester, who was in Hughes auto, escaped injury, police said.

The two women pedestrians were knocked down by a car turning north while crossing Dresden Ave. at 6th St. shortly after noon Sunday.

Dora Griffin, 25, of 200½ W. 7th St. suffered bruises of the hip and elbow and abrasions of the knee, while Pearl Griffin 47, of Glenmoor received an abrasion of the right wrist.

Police said they were struck by a car driven by Clyde Truman McCain, 48, of 806 Lincoln Ave. while walking west across Dresden Ave.

McCain told police he had stopped for a traffic signal and then started to make a left turn from 6th St. onto Dresden Ave. when he saw the women and applied his brakes.

His car struck one woman and knocked her into her companion and both fell, he told officers. He took the women to the hospital for treatment.

The two women told police the car was virtually on top of them and they were unable to move out of its path.

A minor collision at 2:50 p. m. Saturday at Broadway and E. 4th St. involved the stopped car of Robert Thomas Sullens, 32, of the Travelers Hotel and Mary Elizabeth Marks, 21, of 1787 Pennsylvania Ave. The Marks auto drifted back into the Sullens car, which was stopped, police were told.

Slow Reducing Seen Most Rewarding

Does the challenge from other heavyweights stimulate your enthusiasm and bolster your confidence? Once you catch that quickening of the spirit, you want to apply nutrition science to reducing. In short, the "magic" in reducing lies in your attitude, and when you regard calorie curbing in terms of rewards instead of deprivation, you have a winning attitude.

Ida Jean Kain

Friends, weight is not a moral issue. Far be it from this dietitian to point out that you ought to reduce. Of course ideal weight is in the interest of health, but the real issue is happiness — your happiness. If you yearn to be free of the burden of fat, join with other overweights who have accepted the challenge. Competition adds life to your diet.

PERHAPS YOU have dieted many times, only to regain the lost pounds. You may even have reconciled yourself to being overweight, although you know in your heart that you are not really satisfied with that decision. If those words reach out to you, then the experience of the dieter in today's letter should give you new hope. This young mother writes:

"I have been overweight for as long as I can remember. How many times I have dieted, only to gain it back fast with extra pounds to boot! Having been through this ordeal several times, I was very discouraged and more or less reconciled to my doom of remaining fat forever. But I couldn't be happy with this decision.

"Finally, last February, I decided to do an about face and reduce slowly instead of fast. I reasoned that strict dieting was not for me because I could only stick to it for a few weeks. I felt that if I could lose just one pound a week, but always keep the weight trend downward, I would be going in the right direction.

"I was fully aware that this way takes a long time — but I thought of all the years I wasted trying in vain to lose the weight in a hurry. Well, I am happy to report that since that decisive day in February I have lost 35 pounds! (Note: the letter was dated July 30). This is certainly quite a bit of poundage, but to me, it's only a drop in the weight scales—for this weight loss leaves me tipping the scales at 225 pounds!

"Now, I am in need of toning exercises. I have always been fairly well proportioned, so I need overall exercise."

My dietitian's cap is off to that courageous young woman. After all, one pound a week loss does amount to 52 pounds off in a single year.

—:—

THE REWARDS of slow reducing are many. Calories can be high enough so you need not go hungry; the skin has a chance to adjust beautifully which enables you to reduce without a wrinkle. Best of all, your food habits are changed for good so that weight control is a natural.

USW Begins Weirton Drive

Organization Effort Is 4th At Steel Mill

For the fourth time since its organization in the late 1930's, the United Steelworkers Union has launched a drive to recruit as members the 10,000 employes of the Weirton Steel Co.

But the union said it does not intend to publicize it organization drive, headed by Paul Rusen of Bloomingdale, director of District 23.

The Weirton employes currently are represented by the Independent Steelworkers Union, which won a National Labor Relations Board election in 1950, defeating the USW.

The USW's organizing headquarters has been established in Follansbee, staffed by four men —George DeNucci of Columbus, Dominick Spasbo of Pittsburgh, James Feeney of Leechburg, Pa., and Al March of Zonesville.

The USW made a costly organizing attempt in Weirton in 1950, followed by another four years ago. Weirton Steel is an affiliate of National Steel Corp. Its Great Lakes Steel division was organized by the USW many years ago.

Robert D. Stoops of Glenwillard, Pa., forfeited $50.50 on a charge of spilling oil on Carolina Ave., for which he was cited Friday.

Leonard Palmer of Cleveland and Larry Weizenbaum of Pittsburgh forfeited $15.50 bonds on hazardous driving charges. Palmer was cited Friday following a collision near the Lawrenceville Rd. Weizenbaum was cited Tuesday.

12 Ohioans Die In Mishaps; Traffic Claims Biggest Toll

By The Associated Press

Death came in many forms in the weekend just past, but as usual it came most frequently with the roar of a gasoline engine. Of the 12 Ohioans killed, nine died in traffic-connected accidents.

But, as if contrasting the seasons, one accidental death was a drowning while another was caused by carbon monoxide allowed to accumulate in an apartment by a faulty flue.

Two of the deaths involved bicycles. In Cincinnati Saturday, 10-year-old Terry Tusey waited for a northbound train to clear a crossing, but apparently failed to see another—southbound — train. He rode his bike into the side of its locomotive and was killed.

On the Lower Valley Pike near Medway in Clark County, 9-year-old David Lowery was riding his bicycle to a church picnic Sunday when he was hit by a car and killed.

A train also became an instrument of death at Cleveland Sunday when Charles P. Carson, 75, and his nephew left their car, which had stalled on railroad tracks at a crossing. A freight hit the car and knocked it into them, injuring the nephew and killing Carson.

Near Holgate in Henry County, Gordon O. Dale died in the crash of his light plane Saturday.

Both the drowning and asphyxiation occurred in Columbus. Seven-year-old Thomas Hoover fell in a water-filled excavation while throwing stones at its surface, and Ohio State University freshman Ronald Grieser of Springfield died in a carbon monoxide-filled bedroom.

The fatalities:

Friday night

None reported.

Saturday

George Stewart, 80, of Coshocton, when his car left Ohio 271 about 12 miles southeast of Mount Vernon.

Terry Tusey, 10, of Cincinnati, when he rode his bicycle into the side of a locomotive on a southbound freight at a Cincinnati crossing.

Gordon O. Dale, 27, of Willard (Huron County), when his light plane crashed in a Henry County field near Holgate.

Mrs. Helen Huffman, 46, of Toledo, in a two-car accident at the intersection of Ohio 19 and Toussaint-East Road in Ottawa County.

Ellis K. Nealis, 35, of Fairborn, struck by a car at the intersection of two Greene County roads near Fairborn.

Sunday

Charles P. Carson, 75, of Cleveland, when a freight train hit the stalled car in which he had been riding and knocked it into him at a crossing a block from his home.

Thomas Hoover, 7, of Columbus, drowned in a water-filled pit at an expressway project in the city.

David Lowery, 9, of Rt. 1, Medway (Clark County), hit by a car as he rode his bicycle to a church picnic.

Carl Jacob Hinton, 25, of Columbus, hit by a car as he walked along a road at the southeast edge of the city.

Robert J. Shaw, 41, of Columbus, when his motorcycle flipped over in a race at Darbydale (Franklin County) and pinned him to a tree.

Ronald Grieser, 18, of Rt. 2, Springfield, asphyxiated in a three room apartment near the Ohio State University Campus in Columbus when a clogged flue allowed carbon monoxide fumes to accumulate.

Jessie Matthews, 54, Ravenna, in a two-car accident a half mile west of Ravenna on Ohio 5.

Old Clock Still Used

BLUEJACKET, Okla. (AP)—W. H. Bradford uses a clock in his home that has been in the family 128 years. It is a Peck Hayden clock, 2 ½ feet high and operates by weights.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Ted Wong was fined $25 because the meat he sold in his Phoenix market always looked nice and red. Wong pleaded guilty in city court to sprinkling the meat with sulphite.

New Valuations Listed For 2 Beaver Districts

BEAVER—Robert Zapsic, chief Beaver County assessor, has announced new property valuations in Ohio and Industry Townships under a reassessment program now under way in compliance with state law.

The new valuations are based on 30 per cent of the market value as determined by a survey of realestate experts, he pointed out. The old and new valuations in the two townships and the effect on local tax rates is:

Industry Township: Former valuation, $1,113,025: new valuation, $2,550,730; former road tax rate, 10 mills, new rate, 5 mills. Old school tax rate, 35 mills, new rate, 17 mills.

Ohio Township: Old valuation, $884,605, new, $2,144,120; former road tax, 9 mills, new rate, 4 mills; old school tax rate, 35 mills, new rate, 15½ mills.

The school tax estimates are based on the pre-merger status of the three districts, Zapsic explained. They will be combined into one rate for the new union district when the new schedules take effect next year.

Newell Tops Wayne, 12-0, For First Victory Of Season

Homecoming Fans See Win By Big Green

Newell High's Big Green exploded for a pair of fourth-quarter touchdowns to defeat visiting Wayne High School, 12-0, for its first victory of the season before a homecoming crowd Saturday night at Memorial Field in Newell.

After a hard-fought scoreless battle for three quarters, Newell went to the front late in the fourth period when halfback Steve Norris broke loose on a 38-yard sprint to the one-yard line and scored on the next play after taking a handoff from quarterback Joe Graham.

Coach Pete Horoszko's club added another touchdown in the dying minutes of the final period after recovering a fumble on the Wayne 35-yard line. In just three plays, Norris took another handoff from Graham and went wide around his own left end for his second touchdown of the game and the third scored by Newell in four games.

Both attempted kicks for extra points by Norris were wide.

Newell, which had been beaten this year by Weirton Madonna, New Cumberland and Hopedale, showed an improved defense, limiting the Jefferson Countians to only 84 yards net rushing.

Both teams stayed on the ground most of the game. Only six passes were thrown, three by each team. The only pass completion was by Newell. It was good for only a five-yard gain.

Newell's offense rolled up a total of 138 yards rushing. With the five through the air, Newell had a total of 143 yards gained—almost twice that of Wayne.

Officials were as busy as the players, with 17 infractions of the rules called. Newell lost 70 yards and Wayne 75 by penalties.

HANOVERTON — Seeking to avenge last year's 20-0 defeat at the hands of Greenford, United Local pushed to a six-point lead in the third quarter but had to settle for a 6-6 tie when the host eleven scored a fourth-period touchdown here Saturday.

Jim Summer, United's leading point-getter, scored the Eagles only touchdown on a five-yard run.

New Yorker Sets Record For Regatta

NEW MARTINSVILLE, W. Va. (AP) — Bob Palermo of Rochester, N. Y., nursed rib and other injuries today, but was the proud possessor of a new course record for the New Martinsville regatta.

Palermo averaged 82.949 miles an hour for five miles in driving his "Time Flies" to victory in the 225-cubic inch competition, then was injured moments later when his 266-cubic inch boat disintegrated beneath him.

He was hospitalized with rib contusions and an injury to a nerve in his neck and right arm that caused temporary loss of the arm's use.

Palermo's speed surpassed the former course record of 80.573 miles an hour set here on Sept. 15, 1957, by Henry Vogel of Webster, N. Y.

Vogel was forced out of this year's competition Saturday when his boat threw him into the water. He was treated for a couple of broken ribs and torn chest muscles.

New Cumberland Drops First Game

New Cumberland's hopes for an undefeated season ended Saturday night when Weirton Madonna — winner of four straight games—downed the Raiders at Weir High Stadium, 26-13.

Ronnie Rumora, the Dons versatile quarterback, scored two touchdowns and kicked a pair of extra points to take scoring honors for the evening.

Phil Cullen, who was second in the district scoring race last week, continued his torrid point-getting pace by scoring both of the New Cumberland touchdowns.

Coach Chuch Miller's improved Raider team opened the scoring when Cullen went 47 yards around the right end for a touchdown, climaxing an 82-yard march.

Weirton then took the kickoff and marched 72 yards for its first touchdown, with Rumora scoring on a four-yard plunge. A 52-yard pass from Rumora to end Tom Sessi featured the drive.

Again in the second period Rumora crossed the goal line—this time on a sensational 45-yard punt return.

Tom Irwin, Madonna halfback, got the lone third-period marker on a 15-yard sweep around the left end. The run climaxed a drive which began at the Dons five-yard line.

Weirton added another touchdown in the fourth period on an 11-yard scoring pass play from Rumora to halfback Al Giglioli. Rumora kicked the extra point.

Ron Hanes set up the final New Cumberland score, intercepting a pass and returning it 75 yards to the Weirton 14 from where Cullen scored on a screen pass from quarterback George Harris. Harris converted the extra point.

Indians Finish In Fourth, Notch Higher Than Rated

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians have finished their 1958 season in fourth place — a notch higher than the pre-season experts rated them—and with four regular players hitting above .300.

A 6-2 victory over the Detroit Tribe a 77-76 record for the season, compared with 76-77 last year when they finished sixth under Kerby Farrell. Detroit wound up 77-77.

The last-day triumph meant about $500 in World Series receipts shares for each Indian. And it had a value that couldn't be reckoned in dollars and cents for Joe Gordon who took over as manager on June 27 when the Tribe was in sixth place. Under Gordon the Indians won 46 and lost 40.

Gary Bell, 21-year-old rookie righthander from Texas, earned a champagne party toast from his teammates for pitching a six-hitter against the Tigers. Spoiling his shutout was Al Kaline's 16th home run, clouted in the sixth inning after Harvey Kuenn had led off with a single.

Kaline also had a single in four trips, enabling him to beat out by one point the Tribe's Vic Power for fourth place among the league's top average batters. Power got a single in four times up to finish with .312 to Kaline's .313.

Rocky Colavito smashed his 41st home run of the year in the seventh after Don Lee had hit Minnie Minoso with a pitched ball. That raised the Cleveland slugger's runs-batted-in to 113. New York's Mickey Mantle with 42 homers and Boston's Jackie Jensen with 122 RBIs were the only players to excel the Rock in these departments.

Colavito's .303 batting average was a point better than Minoso's final mark, and catcher Russ Nixon lashed out three singles in four times up to jump his average by an even .005 to .301.

Not since the world championship team of 1948 has Cleveland had four regulars who hit .300 and up. The four who did it 10 years ago were Lou Boudreau, Dale Mitchell, Larry Doby and Allie Clark.

Attendance for the finale was 7,798, raising the season gate here to 663,804, which was 58,452 less than a year ago and the lowest since the World War II years of 1942-45.

Long Time To Wait For Reimbursement

HONOLULU (AP) — A former member of the Army's 27th Infantry asked the commanding officer for reimbursement for a trip he made from Manila to San Francisco.

The Army checked its records and found the claim was accurate. Sure enough, the man had been with the unit.

The trip was made in 1904.

Third was W. M. Brown of Augusta, Ohio, 1.053 and fourth was Paul O. Gottschall of Salem, Ohio, 1.082.

South Siders Beaten 18-13

ROGERSVILLE, Pa. — Visiting South Side High faltered in the second quarter and allowed West Greene to score a pair of touchdowns which led to a 18-13 defeat here Saturday afternoon.

Fullback Chuck Brooks chalked up both touchdowns and an extra point for South Side's Rams, but his output was not enough to match the three-touchdown scoring parade of West Greene.

It was the second defeat in three starts for the South Side eleven, which fell before Chester in its first game but whipped East Washington last week.

Phil Galentine, Jerry Yost and Price Cheek all scored touchdowns for the winners. It was a repeat victory for West Greene, which won last year's game with the Rams, 14-0.

Ted Williams Wins Another Batting Crown

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

The American League "race" that really ended in May ground to a close Sunday with the New York Yankees winning by 10 games and 40-year-old Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox clinching his sixth batting championship.

Williams smashed seven hits in 11 trips in the final series at Washington, beating out teammate Pete Runnels who had only five hits in 19 at-bats.

Williams clinched it with a home run into the center field bleachers. He had doubled earlier in Boston's 6-4 victory over Washington.

The final figures showed Williams .328 and Runnels .322.

Boston's eighth triumph in its last nine games sewed up third place while Cleveland took fourth by whipping Detroit 6-2. Chicago, using young pitchers after a second-place finish, ground up an 11-4 score over Kansas City.

Don Larsen and Tom Sturdivant tuned up for World Series duty as the Yankees swept two from Baltimore 7-0 and 6-3.

Mickey Mantle won the home run crown with 42 although he had to be satisfied with three singles on the final day. Cleveland's Rocky Colavito hit his 41st to come within one of a tie.

Larsen almost certainly won himself a starting job in the series against Milwaukee by his fine job against Baltimore in the first game. The perfect game pitcher of the 1956 Series allowed only one hit in five scoreless innings, striking out four. Ryne Duren and Johnny Kucks finished the job with a two-hit shutout.

Sturdivant, like Larsen a sore-armed disappointment in the second half of the season, allowed six hits and two runs in six innings.

Rookie Gary Bell went all the way for Cleveland in the "money" game against Detroit. Victory meant a fourth-place share of the Series cash for the Indians. They finished half a game ahead of the Tigers, playing only 153. A rained-out game with Baltimore never was replayed.

Rookie Stover McIlwain, Hal Trosky and Bob Shaw pitched for the White Sox. Lou Klimchock of the A's hit his first big league homer.

North Lima Easily Defeats County Eleven

NORTH LIMA — North Lima handed Fairfield - Waterford its third defeat Saturday by grinding out five touchdowns and a 44 to 16 victory.

Don Seidner scored three times and Dick Dillon twice as North Lima registered touchdowns in every period in its one-sided victory over the invading Rebels.

Leo Chamberlain scored the Rebels' two touchdowns on a run of 10 yards in the third quarter and a one-yard plunge in the final period. Conza ran for the extra points after the second score.

Waterford scored two points on a safety in the second quarter when the defense trapped a North Lima back in the end zone.

Ashburn Gets 3 Out Of 4 To Outlast Mays

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Richie Ashburn clinched his second National League batting title despite a strong challenge by Willie Mays as the teams finished their seasons Sunday.

Ashburn collected three singles in four official trips while his Philadelphia Phillies were edging Pittsburgh in 10 innings 6-4.

Manager Billy Rigney gave Mays a hand by batting him in the leadoff position. Needing a perfect five for five to catch the Phils center fielder, he managed to get three for five, including his 29th home run. The final averages showed Ashburn .350, Mays .347.

Alex Kellner and Brooks Lawrence of Cincinnati teamed up with a four-hit 4-0 shutout of the pennant-winning Milwaukee Braves. Manager Fred Haney paraded Bob Rush, Carlton Willey, Ernie Johnson and Juan Pizarro in a World Series tuneup. Willey, likely third game pitcher, was the loser.

With Mays showing the way, the Giants drubbed St. Louis 7-2, finishing in third place 12 games behind the Braves. St. Louis, a major disappointment, wound up in a fifth-place tie with Chicago, 20 games back. The Cubs and Los Angeles finished their seasons Saturday while the Coliseum was given over to pro football Sunday.

Almost overlooked in the excitement over the batting race was the fact that Dave Philley set a major league record with his eighth straight pinch hit for the Phils.

Steelers Lose Opener, 23-20

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

George (Poppa Bear) Halas, one of professional football's founding fathers and its chief innovator, has made a successful return to the coaching ranks after a two-year absence.

Halas decided to forego coaching in 1956, handing the reigns of his Chicago Bears to Paddy Driscoll and contenting himself with his front-office duties as owner.

The Bears won a division title that year but last year they had a dismal season, finishing fifth in the Western Division with a 5-7 record. Poppa Bear quickly decided to come out of his semi-retirement.

Taking an outstanding batch of players like Willie Galimore, an unknown picked off the campus of little Florida A&M; quarterback Ed Brown; brilliant end Harlon Hill, and a sturdy forward wall, Halas had mixed well and apparently has a winner.

Bolting away from the wire as the National Football League season opened Sunday, the Bears toppled Green Bay 34-20 to continue the outstanding play which saw them compile a 6-0 exhibition record.

In other games, Frank Gifford scored three times as New York trounced Chicago's Cardinals 37-7. Cleveland overcame Los Angeles 30-27 on Lou Groza's field goal with 25 second left; Baltimore upended defending champion Detroit 28-15; Washington beat Philadelphia 24-14, and San Francisco edged Pittsburgh 23-20.

Galimore scored three touchdowns as the Bears won their first opener in six years. The NFL soph, who can run the 100 in 9.6 scored on dashes of one and eight yards and combined with Brown on a 79-yard pass play for another six-pointer. Galimore's eight-yarder was the clincher.

USW Begins Weirton Drive

Organization Effort Is 4th At Steel Mill

For the fourth time since its organization in the late 1930's, the United Steelworkers Union has launched a drive to recruit as members the 10,000 employes of the Weirton Steel Co.

But the union said it does not intend to publicize it organization drive, headed by Paul Rusen of Bloomingdale, director of District 23.

The Weirton employes currently are represented by the Independent Steelworkers Union, which won a National Labor Relations Board election in 1950, defeating the USW.

The USW's organizing headquarters has been established in Follansbee, staffed by four men —George DeNucci of Columbus, Dominick Spasbo of Pittsburgh, James Feeney of Leechburg, Pa., and Al March of Zonesville.

The USW made a costly organizing attempt in Weirton in 1950, followed by another four years ago. Weirton Steel is an affiliate of National Steel Corp. Its Great Lakes Steel division was organized by the USW many years ago.

12 Ohioans Die In Mishaps; Traffic Claims Biggest Toll

By The Associated Press

Death came in many forms in the weekend just past, but as usual it came most frequently with the roar of a gasoline engine. Of the 12 Ohioans killed, nine died in traffic-connected accidents.

But, as if contrasting the seasons, one accidental death was a drowning while another was caused by carbon monoxide allowed to accumulate in an apartment by a faulty flue.

Two of the deaths involved bicycles. In Cincinnati Saturday, 10-year-old Terry Tusey waited for a northbound train to clear a crossing, but apparently failed to see another—southbound — train. He rode his bike into the side of its locomotive and was killed.

On the Lower Valley Pike near Medway in Clark County, 9-year-old David Lowery was riding his bicycle to a church picnic Sunday when he was hit by a car and killed.

A train also became an instrument of death at Cleveland Sunday when Charles P. Carson, 75, and his nephew left their car, which had stalled on railroad tracks at a crossing. A freight hit the car and knocked it into them, injuring the nephew and killing Carson.

Near Holgate in Henry County, Gordon O. Dale died in the crash of his light plane Saturday.

Both the drowning and asphyxiation occurred in Columbus. Seven-year-old Thomas Hoover fell in a water-filled excavation while throwing stones at its surface, and Ohio State University freshman Ronald Grieser of Springfield died in a carbon monoxide-filled bedroom.

The fatalities:

Friday night

None reported.

Saturday

George Stewart, 80, of Coshocton, when his car left Ohio 271 about 12 miles southeast of Mount Vernon.

Terry Tusey, 10, of Cincinnati, when he rode his bicycle into the side of a locomotive on a southbound freight at a Cincinnati crossing.

Gordon O. Dale, 27, of Willard (Huron County), when his light plane crashed in a Henry County field near Holgate.

Mrs. Helen Huffman, 46, of Toledo, in a two-car accident at the intersection of Ohio 19 and Toussaint-East Road in Ottawa County.

Ellis K. Nealis, 35, of Fairborn, struck by a car at the intersection of two Greene County roads near Fairborn.

Sunday

Charles P. Carson, 75, of Cleveland, when a freight train hit the stalled car in which he had been riding and knocked it into him at a crossing a block from his home.

Thomas Hoover, 7, of Columbus, drowned in a water-filled pit at an expressway project in the city.

David Lowery, 9, of Rt. 1, Medway (Clark County), hit by a car as he rode his bicycle to a church picnic.

Carl Jacob Hinton, 25, of Columbus, hit by a car as he walked along a road at the southeast edge of the city.

Robert J. Shaw, 41, of Columbus, when his motorcycle flipped over in a race at Darbydale (Franklin County) and pinned him to a tree.

Ronald Grieser, 18, of Rt. 2, Springfield, asphyxiated in a three room apartment near the Ohio State University Campus in Columbus when a clogged flue allowed carbon monoxide fumes to accumulate.

Jessie Matthews, 54, Ravenna, in a two-car accident a half mile west of Ravenna on Ohio 5.

New Valuations Listed For 2 Beaver Districts

BEAVER—Robert Zapsic, chief Beaver County assessor, has announced new property valuations in Ohio and Industry Townships under a reassessment program now under way in compliance with state law.

The new valuations are based on 30 per cent of the market value as determined by a survey of realestate experts, he pointed out. The old and new valuations in the two townships and the effect on local tax rates is:

Industry Township: Former valuation, $1,113,025: new valuation, $2,550,730; former road tax rate, 10 mills, new rate, 5 mills. Old school tax rate, 35 mills, new rate, 17 mills.

Ohio Township: Old valuation, $884,605, new, $2,144,120; former road tax, 9 mills, new rate, 4 mills; old school tax rate, 35 mills, new rate, 15½ mills.

The school tax estimates are based on the pre-merger status of the three districts, Zapsic explained. They will be combined into one rate for the new union district when the new schedules take effect next year.

Irondale Edges Mount Pleasant, 22-14, At Homecoming

Beaver Local Nosed Out By Salineville Gridders, 14 To 6

Patton Tallies Winning TDs In 4th Period

By CHUCK CRONIN

Irondale's aroused Irons sprang senior fullback Scott Patton loose for a pair of fourth-quarter touchdowns and stunned visiting Mount Pleasant with a well deserved, 22-14, homecoming victory before some 1,000 fans Saturday afternoon.

With less than two minutes remaining in the game, the hard-running Pattor squirmed loose for a 20-yard touchdown jaunt and broke a 14-14 tie to give the Irons their first victory of the season under new Coach Fred Sims.

Earlier ni the same period, Patton had scored on an 18-yard dash to give the Irons a short-lived 14-8, lead. The persistent Mounties, however, clawed back to deadlock the score on a 10-yard screen pass from quarterback Summer to Gruzer.

It was the third consecutive defeat for Coach Ralph Tate's Mounties. Irondale's first defeat was an 8-6 decision at the hands of Beaver Local.

A fumbled pass from center led to Mount Pleasant's second-quarter touchdown as center Jud Enstrom fell on a loose ball while it bounded about in the Irondale end zone. An end run by Chuck Summers was successful for the extra points.

Halfback Don Fraley, who wrecked Mount Pleasant's passing game with three timely interceptions, climaxed an Irondale scoring march in the second period with a touchdown on a three-yard buck across tackle. An attempted run for the extra points failed and the Irons remained behind until Patton's scoring run on the second play of the fourth quarter.

Neither team could muster a scoring drive in the first quarter as booming punts kept play between the 10-yard lines.

The first three periods saw a bruising line game, with Irondale's pair of rugged guards, Lon Fraley and Ben Chetock, consistently bottling up the Mount Pleasant offense with bruising tackles.

Halfback Fraley reeled off several long runs following pass interceptions to spark the Irondale offense and Patton came through in the clutch with the necessary touchdowns.

Irondale took advantage of its pair of ends, Frank Pisarsky and Doug Logan, to score a pair of extra points on passes following Patton's touchdowns.

Irondale had a 7-5 margin in first downs.

Salineville High found Beaver Local troublesome, but had just enough to come through with a 14-6 victory Saturday afternoon at the Beaver Local gridiron.

After a scoreless first quarter which saw the Indians halt a scoring drive by the determined Beavers close to the goal line, Salinevills stormed back on the air arm of quarterback Larry Kessler, who fired a touchdown pass to end Dick Kerr in a play that covered 20 yards. Halfback Rich Dunlap, who is usually on the receiving end of Kessler's rifle throws, then reversed the tables and threw the extra points strike to halfback Dick Noles for an 8-0 lead.

The ever-battling Beavers then staged a touchdown march in the third quarter, with Fred Needs getting the six points on a 30-yard run. An attempted pass for the extra points which would have tied the game was incomplete.

Salineville added an insurance touchdown in the middle of the fourth quarter when Dunlap climaxed a 50-yard drive by breaking through the Beavers defenders on a 6-yard scoring run.

Coach Jack O'Rourke's Beavers failed to have another scoring chance during the rest of the final period and were defeated for the second time this season. The Beavers whipped Irondale in their open, 8-6.

Salineville picked up its second victory in three games after losing to Springfield Township last week, 27-0.

Stengel Names Ford For Opening Game

NEW YORK (AP) — Manager Casey Stengel today named southpaw Whitey Ford as his pitcher for the New York Yankees in Wednesday's opening game of the World Series against the Braves in Milwaukee.

SOLLY HEMUS

Cards Name Solly Hemus New Manager

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Solly Hemus, former player with the St. Louis Cardinals, today was named the new manager of the club.

The contract of the fiery little Hemus is for one year, the Cards announced. He succeeds Fred Hutchinson, fired recently when it became obvious the club would not finish as high as the Cardinal bosses had expected.

The announcement confirmed an exclusive Associated Press report of two weeks ago that Hemus, the personal choice of owner August Busch, would be the new manager.

The Cardinals, who wound up the 1958 season in a fifth-place tie with the Chicago Cubs, also named Johnny Keane and Harry Walker as coaches.

Keane has been manager of the Cardinals' farm club at Omaha in the International League. Hemus played under Keane's field leadership for several years in the minor leagues.

Walker, who once served briefly as Cardinal manager, was manager of the Cardinals' Houston club in the Texas League during the 1958 season.

A third coach and possibly a fourth will be named later.

"It is a dream come true," said Hemus, one-time peppery infielder with the Cardinals.

Hemus had played with the Philadelphia Phils for the past two seasons.

The University of Mississippi is in its 12th football campaign under Coach Johnny Vaught. His 11-year record shows 79 victories, 24 defeats and 6 ties.

Little Potters Edged, 8-0, By Martins Ferry

Aided by a rash of penalties during a fourth quarter touchdown march, Martins Ferry's reserves edged East Liverpool's reserve squad, 8-0, by scoring in the last 50 seconds of play Saturday night at Patterson Field.

The Potters, dotted with sophomores, had the edge in rushing statistics over the predominately junior squad of Martins Ferry, but failed to capitalize on several scoring opportunities.

Quarterback Bob Bruney crashed over from one yard out on a sneak for Martins Ferry's touchdown and an end sweep provided the extra points. Bruney's short buck capped a drive from the 35-yard stripe of Martins Ferry and the drive was aided by several long penalties, including one for roughing the passer and another for holding.

Coach Bob Hedmond said he was "pleased with the overall performance of his reserves" and named halfback Jim Sparks, fullback John Goodballet, halfback Joe Thompson, and quarterback Ken Cunningham as being outstanding.

Hedmond also was pleased with the punting of Cookie Goodballet. Sparks reeled off two runs of about 20 yards and Joe Thompson also had a 15-yard run for the Potter eleven.

East Liverpool once drove to the Martins Ferry goal line and had several other scoring chances.

Greek Premier Okays Cyprus Independence

ATHENS (AP)—Prime Minister Constantine Karamanlis said today Cyprus independence would be acceptable to Greece as a solution to the problem that has brought bloodshed to the island for three years.

The Greek government previously has demanded that Cypriots be given the right of self-determination — almost certain union with Greece. Its population of half a million is about 80 per cent Greek-speaking.

Jockey Eddie Arcaro has had 19 Kentucky Derby mounts and has won the race five times. His last winner was Hill Gail in 1952. He has had three seconds and one third.

Newell Tops Wayne, 12-0, For First Victory Of Season

Homecoming Fans See Win By Big Green

Newell High's Big Green exploded for a pair of fourth-quarter touchdowns to defeat visiting Wayne High School, 12-0, for its first victory of the season before a homecoming crowd Saturday night at Memorial Field in Newell.

After a hard-fought scoreless battle for three quarters, Newell went to the front late in the fourth period when halfback Steve Norris broke loose on a 38-yard sprint to the one-yard line and scored on the next play after taking a handoff from quarterback Joe Graham.

Coach Pete Horoszko's club added another touchdown in the dying minutes of the final period after recovering a fumble on the Wayne 35-yard line. In just three plays, Norris took another handoff from Graham and went wide around his own left end for his second touchdown of the game and the third scored by Newell in four games.

Both attempted kicks for extra points by Norris were wide.

Newell, which had been beaten this year by Weirton Madonna, New Cumberland and Hopedale, showed an improved defense, limiting the Jefferson Countians to only 84 yards net rushing.

Both teams stayed on the ground most of the game. Only six passes were thrown, three by each team. The only pass completion was by Newell. It was good for only a five-yard gain.

Newell's offense rolled up a total of 138 yards rushing. With the five through the air, Newell had a total of 143 yards gained—almost twice that of Wayne.

Officials were as busy as the players, with 17 infractions of the rules called. Newell lost 70 yards and Wayne 75 by penalties.

United Local Tied, 6 To 6

HANOVERTON — Seeking to avenge last year's 20-0 defeat at the hands of Greenford, United Local pushed to a six-point lead in the third quarter but had to settle for a 6-6 tie when the host eleven scored a fourth-period touchdown here Saturday.

Jim Summer, United's leading point-getter, scored the Eagles only touchdown on a five-yard run.

Ronnie Janovec ploughed over from the four to provide the equalizer for Greenford.

New Cumberland Drops First Game

New Cumberland's hopes for an undefeated season ended Saturday night when Weirton Madonna — winner of four straight games—downed the Raiders at Weir High Stadium, 26-13.

Ronnie Rumora, the Dons versatile quarterback, scored two touchdowns and kicked a pair of extra points to take scoring honors for the evening.

Phil Cullen, who was second in the district scoring race last week, continued his torrid point-getting pace by scoring both of the New Cumberland touchdowns.

Coach Chuch Miller's improved Raider team opened the scoring when Cullen went 47 yards around the right end for a touchdown, climaxing an 82-yard march.

Weirton then took the kickoff and marched 72 yards for its first touchdown, with Rumora scoring on a four-yard plunge. A 52-yard pass from Rumora to end Tom Sessi featured the drive.

Again in the second period Rumora crossed the goal line—this time on a sensational 45-yard punt return.

Tom Irwin, Madonna halfback, got the lone third-period marker on a 15-yard sweep around the left end. The run climaxed a drive which began at the Dons five-yard line.

Weirton added another touchdown in the fourth period on an 11-yard scoring pass play from Rumora to halfback Al Giglioli. Rumora kicked the extra point.

Ron Hanes set up the final New Cumberland score, intercepting a pass and returning it 75 yards to the Weirton 14 from where Cullen scored on a screen pass from quarterback George Harris. Harris converted the extra point.

Indians Finish In Fourth, Notch Higher Than Rated

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians have finished their 1958 season in fourth place — a notch higher than the pre-season experts rated them—and with four regular players hitting above .300.

A 6-2 victory over the Detroit Tribe a 77-76 record for the season, compared with 76-77 last year when they finished sixth under Kerby Farrell. Detroit wound up 77-77.

The last-day triumph meant about $500 in World Series receipts shares for each Indian. And it had a value that couldn't be reckoned in dollars and cents for Joe Gordon who took over as manager on June 27 when the Tribe was in sixth place. Under Gordon the Indians won 46 and lost 40.

Gary Bell, 21-year-old rookie righthander from Texas, earned a champagne party toast from his teammates for pitching a six-hitter against the Tigers. Spoiling his shutout was Al Kaline's 16th home run, clouted in the sixth inning after Harvey Kuenn had led off with a single.

Kaline also had a single in four trips, enabling him to beat out by one point the Tribe's Vic Power for fourth place among the league's top average batters. Power got a single in four times up to finish with .312 to Kaline's .313.

Rocky Colavito smashed his 41st home run of the year in the seventh after Don Lee had hit Minnie Minoso with a pitched ball. That raised the Cleveland slugger's runs-batted-in to 113. New York's Mickey Mantle with 42 homers and Boston's Jackie Jensen with 122 RBIs were the only players to excel the Rock in these departments.

Colavito's .303 batting average was a point better than Minoso's final mark, and catcher Russ Nixon lashed out three singles in four times up to jump his average by an even .005 to .301.

Not since the world championship team of 1948 has Cleveland had four regulars who hit .300 and up. The four who did it 10 years ago were Lou Boudreau, Dale Mitchell, Larry Doby and Allie Clark.

Attendance for the finale was 7,798, raising the season gate here to 663,804, which was 58,452 less than a year ago and the lowest since the World War II years of 1942-45.

Long Time To Wait For Reimbursement

HONOLULU (AP) — A former member of the Army's 27th Infantry asked the commanding officer for reimbursement for a trip he made from Manila to San Francisco.

The Army checked its records and found the claim was accurate. Sure enough, the man had been with the unit.

The trip was made in 1904.

SKIATOOK, Okla. (AP)—Robert W. Smith of Dallas is the new U.S. Bench Rest rifle champion. He won in competition here Sunday by the minute margin of less than .0030 of an inch, with a score of .985. Third was W. M. Brown of Augusta, Ohio, 1.053 and fourth was Paul O. Gottschall of Salem, Ohio, 1.082.

South Siders Beaten 18-13

ROGERSVILLE, Pa. — Visiting South Side High faltered in the second quarter and allowed West Greene to score a pair of touchdowns which led to a 18-13 defeat here Saturday afternoon.

Fullback Chuck Brooks chalked up both touchdowns and an extra point for South Side's Rams, but his output was not enough to match the three-touchdown scoring parade of West Greene.

It was the second defeat in three starts for the South Side eleven, which fell before Chester in its first game but whipped East Washington last week.

Phil Galentine, Jerry Yost and Price Cheek all scored touchdowns for the winners. It was a repeat victory for West Greene, which won last year's game with the Rams, 14-0.

Ted Williams Wins Another Batting Crown

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

The American League "race" that really ended in May ground to a close Sunday with the New York Yankees winning by 10 games and 40-year-old Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox clinching his sixth batting championship.

Williams smashed seven hits in 11 trips in the final series at Washington, beating out teammate Pete Runnels who had only five hits in 19 at-bats.

Williams clinched it with a home run into the center field bleachers. He had doubled earlier in Boston's 6-4 victory over Washington.

The final figures showed Williams .328 and Runnels .322.

Boston's eighth triumph in its last nine games sewed up third place while Cleveland took fourth by whipping Detroit 6-2. Chicago, using young pitchers after a second-place finish, ground up an 11-4 score over Kansas City.

Don Larsen and Tom Sturdivant tuned up for World Series duty as the Yankees swept two from Baltimore 7-0 and 6-3.

Mickey Mantle won the home run crown with 42 although he had to be satisfied with three singles on the final day. Cleveland's Rocky Colavito hit his 41st to come within one of a tie.

Larsen almost certainly won himself a starting job in the series against Milwaukee by his fine job against Baltimore in the first game. The perfect game pitcher of the 1956 Series allowed only one hit in five scoreless innings, striking out four. Ryne Duren and Johnny Kucks finished the job with a two-hit shutout.

Sturdivant, like Larsen a sore-armed disappointment in the second half of the season, allowed six hits and two runs in six innings.

Rookie Gary Bell went all the way for Cleveland in the "money" game against Detroit. Victory meant a fourth-place share of the Series cash for the Indians. They finished half a game ahead of the Tigers, playing only 153. A rained-out game with Baltimore never was replayed.

Rookie Stover McIlwain, Hal Trosky and Bob Shaw pitched for the White Sox. Lou Klimchock of the A's hit his first big league homer.

North Lima Easily Defeats County Eleven

NORTH LIMA — North Lima handed Fairfield - Waterford its third defeat Saturday by grinding out five touchdowns and a 44 to 16 victory.

Don Seidner scored three times and Dick Dillon twice as North Lima registered touchdowns in every period in its one-sided victory over the invading Rebels.

Leo Chamberlain scored the Rebels' two touchdowns on a run of 10 yards in the third quarter and a one-yard plunge in the final period. Conza ran for the extra points after the second score.

Waterford scored two points on a safety in the second quarter when the defense trapped a North Lima back in the end zone.

Ashburn Gets 3 Out Of 4 To Outlast Mays

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Richie Ashburn clinched his second National League batting title despite a strong challenge by Willie Mays as the teams finished their seasons Sunday.

Ashburn collected three singles in four official trips while his Philadelphia Phillies were edging Pittsburgh in 10 innings 6-4.

Manager Billy Rigney gave Mays a hand by batting him in the leadoff position. Needing a perfect five for five to catch the Phils center fielder, he managed to get three for five, including his 29th home run. The final averages showed Ashburn .350, Mays .347.

Alex Kellner and Brooks Lawrence of Cincinnati teamed up with a four-hit 4-0 shutout of the pennant-winning Milwaukee Braves. Manager Fred Haney paraded Bob Rush, Carlton Willey, Ernie Johnson and Juan Pizarro in a World Series tuneup. Willey, likely third game pitcher, was the loser.

With Mays showing the way, the Giants drubbed St. Louis 7-2, finishing in third place 12 games behind the Braves. St. Louis, a major disappointment, wound up in a fifth-place tie with Chicago, 20 games back. The Cubs and Los Angeles finished their seasons Saturday while the Coliseum was given over to pro football Sunday.

Almost overlooked in the excitement over the batting race was the fact that Dave Philley set a major league record with his eighth straight pinch hit for the Phils.

Minor League Officials To Meet Tonight At 8

Steelers Lose Opener, 23-20

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

George (Poppa Bear) Halas, one of professional football's founding fathers and its chief innovator, has made a successful return to the coaching ranks after a two-year absence.

Halas decided to forego coaching in 1956, handing the reigns of his Chicago Bears to Paddy Driscoll and contenting himself with his front-office duties as owner.

The Bears won a division title that year but last year they had a dismal season, finishing fifth in the Western Division with a 5-7 record. Poppa Bear quickly decided to come out of his semi-retirement.

Taking an outstanding batch of players like Willie Galimore, an unknown picked off the campus of little Florida A&M; quarterback Ed Brown; brilliant end Harlon Hill, and a sturdy forward wall, Halas had mixed well and apparently has a winner.

Bolting away from the wire as the National Football League season opened Sunday, the Bears toppled Green Bay 34-20 to continue the outstanding play which saw them compile a 6-0 exhibition record.

In other games, Frank Gifford scored three times as New York trounced Chicago's Cardinals 37-7. Cleveland overcame Los Angeles 30-27 on Lou Groza's field goal with 25 second left; Baltimore upended defending champion Detroit 28-15; Washington beat Philadelphia 24-14, and San Francisco edged Pittsburgh 23-20.

Galimore scored three touchdowns as the Bears won their first opener in six years. The NFL soph, who can run the 100 in 9.6 scored on dashes of one and eight yards and combined with Brown on a 79-yard pass play for another six-pointer. Galimore's eight-yarder was the clincher.

New Yorker Sets Record For Regatta

NEW MARTINSVILLE, W. Va. (AP) — Bob Palermo of Rochester, N. Y., nursed rib and other injuries today, but was the proud possessor of a new course record for the New Martinsville regatta.

Palermo averaged 82.949 miles an hour for five miles in driving his "Time Flies" to victory in the 225-cubic inch competition, then was injured moments later when his 266-cubic inch boat disintegrated beneath him.

He was hospitalized with rib contusions and an injury to a nerve in his neck and right arm that caused temporary loss of the arm's use.

Palermo's speed surpassed the former course record of 80.573 miles an hour set here on Sept. 15, 1957, by Henry Vogel of Webster, N. Y.

Vogel was forced out of this year's competition Saturday when his boat threw him into the water. He was treated for a couple of broken ribs and torn chest muscles.

Security Fund Role Outlined

Benefits Make Up Loss Of Earnings

Social Security benefits are intended to replace in part the loss of income brought about by death, disability or old-age retirement of the worker, the Youngstown office of the Social Security Administration pointed out.

For this reason, they are related to the average earnings of a worker in employment or self-employment covered by the Social Security Law. Obviously, Social Security benefits are affected by changes in the national economy. Since the last benefit increase was put into effect in 1954, wages have increased by about 12 per cent and prices by 8 per cent. Congress felt that adjustments in the benefit scale were in order and voted an across-the-board increase in the amendments which the President signed into law on Aug. 28. These benefits become effective at the beginning of 1959, and will be included in all benefit checks for January which will reach beneficiaries early in February. It is not necessary to visit the Social Security office to apply for these increases, they will be made automatically.

The benefit increases for retired workers amount to about 7 per cent over the levels provided in the old law, with a minimum increase of $3 in the benefits payable to a retired worker who came on the rolls at or after age 65. Slightly smaller increases will be shown on the benefit checks of retired women workers who elected to retire at age 62 or at any age thereafter before reaching age 65. Proportionate increases will be made in benefits paid to beneficiaries who are dependents or survivors of retired.

For retired male workers now getting benefit payments, the monthly payments, beginning with the payment for January, will range from $33 to $116, compared with $30 to $108.50 under the old law. For women workers now getting retirement benefits the increased checks will range from $26.40 to $116 per month. This slightly lower minimum benefit is due to the fact that some women chose to retire before age 65.

Persons desiring further information may contact the Social Security agent in the basement of the Post Office, or the regional office, 123 W. Commerce St., Youngstown.

Job Openings Sought For Trained Disabled

The Christ Mission Goodwill Industries of Youngstown trains some handicapped people in its workshops for whom jobs are being sought this week as part of the National Employ - the - Physically Handicapped Week.

W. A. Louden, executive director, said the non - profit program provides work experience, trade training and job evaluation. It is made possible by the repairing and reconditioning of clothing and household articles for resale.

"Many handicapped people who come to Goodwill Industries have never worked before. Others who have acquired handicaps later in life need to learn new occupations and condition themselves for work."

The workers earn while they learn, receiving wages in accord with sheltered workshop standards.

Irondale Edges Mount Pleasant, 22-14, At Homecoming

Beaver Local Nosed Out By Salineville Gridders, 14 To 6

Patton Tallies Winning TDs In 4th Period

By CHUCK CRONIN

Irondale's aroused Irons sprang senior fullback Scott Patton loose for a pair of fourth-quarter touchdowns and stunned visiting Mount Pleasant with a well deserved, 22-14, homecoming victory before some 1,000 fans Saturday afternoon.

With less than two minutes remaining in the game, the hard-running Pattor squirmed loose for a 20-yard touchdown jaunt and broke a 14-14 tie to give the Irons their first victory of the season under new Coach Fred Sims.

Earlier ni the same period, Patton had scored on an 18-yard dash to give the Irons a short-lived 14-8, lead. The persistent Mounties, however, clawed back to deadlock the score on a 10-yard screen pass from quarterback Summer to Gruzer.

It was the third consecutive defeat for Coach Ralph Tate's Mounties. Irondale's first defeat was an 8-6 decision at the hands of Beaver Local.

A fumbled pass from center led to Mount Pleasant's second-quarter touchdown as center Jud Enstrom fell on a loose ball while it bounded about in the Irondale end zone. An end run by Chuck Summers was successful for the extra points.

Halfback Don Fraley, who wrecked Mount Pleasant's passing game with three timely interceptions, climaxed an Irondale scoring march in the second period with a touchdown on a three-yard buck across tackle. An attempted run for the extra points failed and the Irons remained behind until Patton's scoring run on the second play of the fourth quarter.

Neither team could muster a scoring drive in the first quarter as booming punts kept play between the 10-yard lines.

The first three periods saw a bruising line game, with Irondale's pair of rugged guards, Lon Fraley and Ben Chetock, consistently bottling up the Mount Pleasant offense with bruising tackles.

Halfback Fraley reeled off several long runs following pass interceptions to spark the Irondale offense and Patton came through in the clutch with the necessary touchdowns.

Irondale took advantage of its pair of ends, Frank Pisarsky and Doug Logan, to score a pair of extra points on passes following Patton's touchdowns.

Irondale had a 7-5 margin in first downs.

HOMECOMING BEAUTIES and brilliant football went hand in hand Saturday afternoon as Irondale defeated Mount Pleasant, 22-14, at Irondale's Memorial Field. Standing with her, left to right, are Miss Elaine Nightengale, Miss Lindis Olden and Miss Peggy Perkins, 1958 queen. A dark-haired senior at Stanton High School, Miss McGivern was presented a gift from the homecoming committee. In the bottom picture, senior fullback Scott Patton (30) is shown dashing for the tie-breaking touchdown.

Winners Hold Lead Built Up In 2nd Period

Salineville High found Beaver Local troublesome, but had just enough to come through with a 14-6 victory Saturday afternoon at the Beaver Local gridiron.

After a scoreless first quarter which saw the Indians halt a scoring drive by the determined Beavers close to the goal line, Salinevills stormed back on the air arm of quarterback Larry Kessler, who fired a touchdown pass to end Dick Kerr in a play that covered 20 yards. Halfback Rich Dunlap, who is usually on the receiving end of Kessler's rifle throws, then reversed the tables and threw the extra points strike to halfback Dick Noles for an 8-0 lead.

The ever-battling Beavers then staged a touchdown march in the third quarter, with Fred Needs getting the six points on a 30-yard run. An attempted pass for the extra points which would have tied the game was incomplete.

Salineville added an insurance touchdown in the middle of the fourth quarter when Dunlap climaxed a 50-yard drive by breaking through the Beavers defenders on a 6-yard scoring run.

Coach Jack O'Rourke's Beavers failed to have another scoring chance during the rest of the final period and were defeated for the second time this season. The Beavers whipped Irondale in their open, 8-6.

Salineville picked up its second victory in three games after losing to Springfield Township last week, 27-0.

NEW YORK (AP) — Manager Casey Stengel today named southpaw Whitey Ford as his pitcher for the New York Yankees in Wednesday's opening game of the World Series against the Braves in Milwaukee.

Little Potters Edged, 8-0, By Martins Ferry

Aided by a rash of penalties during a fourth quarter touchdown march, Martins Ferry's reserves edged East Liverpool's reserve squad, 8-0, by scoring in the last 50 seconds of play Saturday night at Patterson Field.

The Potters, dotted with sophomores, had the edge in rushing statistics over the predominately junior squad of Martins Ferry, but failed to capitalize on several scoring opportunities.

Quarterback Bob Bruney crashed over from one yard out on a sneak for Martins Ferry's touchdown and an end sweep provided the extra points. Bruney's short buck capped a drive from the 35-yard stripe of Martins Ferry and the drive was aided by several long penalties, including one for roughing the passer and another for holding.

Coach Bob Hedmond said he was "pleased with the overall performance of his reserves" and named halfback Jim Sparks, fullback John Goodballet, halfback Joe Thompson, and quarterback Ken Cunningham as being outstanding.

Hedmond also was pleased with the punting of Cookie Goodballet. Sparks reeled off two runs of about 20 yards and Joe Thompson also had a 15-yard run for the Potter eleven.

East Liverpool once drove to the Martins Ferry goal line and had several other scoring chances.

Greek Premier Okays Cyprus Independence

ATHENS (AP)—Prime Minister Constantine Karamanlis said today Cyprus independence would be acceptable to Greece as a solution to the problem that has brought bloodshed to the island for three years.

The Greek government previously has demanded that Cypriots be given the right of self-determination — almost certain union with Greece. Its population of half a million is about 80 per cent Greek-speaking.

Jockey Eddie Arcaro has had 19 Kentucky Derby mounts and has won the race five times. His last winner was Hill Gail in 1952. He has had three seconds and one third.

SOLLY HEMUS

Cards Name Solly Hemus New Manager

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Solly Hemus, former player with the St. Louis Cardinals, today was named the new manager of the club.

The contract of the fiery little Hemus is for one year, the Cards announced. He succeeds Fred Hutchinson, fired recently when it became obvious the club would not finish as high as the Cardinal bosses had expected.

The announcement confirmed an exclusive Associated Press report of two weeks ago that Hemus, the personal choice of owner August Busch, would be the new manager.

The Cardinals, who wound up the 1958 season in a fifth-place tie with the Chicago Cubs, also named Johnny Keane and Harry Walker as coaches.

Keane has been manager of the Cardinals' farm club at Omaha in the International League. Hemus played under Keane's field leadership for several years in the minor leagues.

Walker, who once served briefly as Cardinal manager, was manager of the Cardinals' Houston club in the Texas League during the 1958 season.

A third coach and possibly a fourth will be named later.

"It is a dream come true," said Hemus, one-time peppery infielder with the Cardinals.

Hemus had played with the Philadelphia Phils for the past two seasons.

The University of Mississippi is in its 12th football campaign under Coach Johnny Vaught. His 11-year record shows 79 victories, 24 defeats and 6 ties.

Two More Concerts Added

Civic Music Series Is Set

With the addition of two more concerts, the Civic Music Association was looking forward to a successful 1958-59 season today encouraged by an increase in membership over last season.

Joining Rise Stevens, noted singer, will be Nelson and Neal, Australia-American piano team, and the Eger Players.

Their selections were made by the association's talent committee Saturday after completion of the week-long membership drive. E. King Mathews, association president, said "memberships showed a substantial increase over the 650 of the 1957-58 season."

—:—

ALLISON NELSON of Australia and Harry Neal, versatile American pianist, have won praise for their presentations. They were trained at the Curtis Institute by Rudolf Serkin and Isabelle Vangerova. They met and were married in Philadelphia, where for 18 months they presented the only television program at the time devoted entirely to classical music.

Since then, they have played hundreds of concerts in Australia, New Zealand and North America, introducing many new works and specializing in original literature. Individually or together they have played more than 30 engagements and major symphony orchestras from Sydney to Philadelphia.

The Eger Players are nationally known. The group is reported to be the only ensemble of its kind in the world. Joseph Eger, recording artist and French horn virtuoso, is noted for his presentations of new dimensions in sound. He appeared among the artists at Grant Park, Chicago, this summer along with Van Cliburn and others.

—:—

THE EGER group will meet the talent committee's desire to have violin and cello selections as part of the series. The director of the players also frequently interviews interested students in classroom and concert hall, the committee members pointed out, with stimulating question - and - answer periods resulting.

In winding up the campaign, Mathews again expressed appreciation for "the wonderful cooperation of the public and the workers" during the drive.

He cited these division chairmen for their assistance: Mrs. William Shoub, Mrs. Myron Weiss and Miss Luella Thompson of Wellsville; Miss Virginia Rigby of Chester; Mrs. Harry Henkin of Midland; Mrs. Burton Kerr, Mrs. John Roberts, Mrs. Sidney Porter, Mrs. Charles Shriver, Mrs. Everson Hall, Mrs. Mathews and Ernest Lowe.

Dates of the concerts will be announced as soon as they are confirmed, Mathews said.

For Lack Of A Shoe, Youths Get In Trouble

CLEVELAND (AP)—Patrolman John W. Butler cornered two youths fleeing from the shattered display window of a shoe store Sunday.

One boy clutched a right shoe, size 8C.

The boys took the left shoe from the store Friday night, the youth explained, but the alarm scared them away before they could grab the mate.

"I wanted a pair that matched," he added.

The boys, 16 and 17, were sent to the juvenile detention home.

Arraignment Slated In Jefferson Court

A Wellsville man charged with armed robbery and an East Liverpool man accused of breaking and entering will be among the 42 to be arraigned Wednesday in Jefferson County Common Pleas Court at Steubenville.

Nine district men were indicted by the Jefferson County Grand Jury, which reported Wednesday. The arraignments, which will begin at 9:30 a. m. Wednesday, are expected to continue through Thursday. No date has been set for beginning trials.

Security Fund Role Outlined

Benefits Make Up Loss Of Earnings

Social Security benefits are intended to replace in part the loss of income brought about by death, disability or old-age retirement of the worker, the Youngstown office of the Social Security Administration pointed out.

For this reason, they are related to the average earnings of a worker in employment or self-employment covered by the Social Security Law. Obviously, Social Security benefits are affected by changes in the national economy. Since the last benefit increase was put into effect in 1954, wages have increased by about 12 per cent and prices by 8 per cent. Congress felt that adjustments in the benefit scale were in order and voted an across-the-board increase in the amendments which the President signed into law on Aug. 28. These benefits become effective at the beginning of 1959, and will be included in all benefit checks for January which will reach beneficiaries early in February. It is not necessary to visit the Social Security office to apply for these increases, they will be made automatically.

The benefit increases for retired workers amount to about 7 per cent over the levels provided in the old law, with a minimum increase of $3 in the benefits payable to a retired worker who came on the rolls at or after age 65. Slightly smaller increases will be shown on the benefit checks of retired women workers who elected to retire at age 62 or at any age thereafter before reaching age 65. Proportionate increases will be made in benefits paid to beneficiaries who are dependents or survivors of retired.

For retired male workers now getting benefit payments, the monthly payments, beginning with the payment for January, will range from $33 to $116, compared with $30 to $108.50 under the old law. For women workers now getting retirement benefits the increased checks will range from $26.40 to $116 per month. This slightly lower minimum benefit is due to the fact that some women chose to retire before age 65.

Persons desiring further information may contact the Social Security agent in the basement of the Post Office, or the regional office, 123 W. Commerce St., Youngstown.

Job Openings Sought For Trained Disabled

The Christ Mission Goodwill Industries of Youngstown trains some handicapped people in its workshops for whom jobs are being sought this week as part of the National Employ - the - Physically Handicapped Week.

W. A. Louden, executive director, said the non - profit program provides work experience, trade training and job evaluation. It is made possible by the repairing and reconditioning of clothing and household articles for resale.

"Many handicapped people who come to Goodwill Industries have never worked before. Others who have acquired handicaps later in life need to learn new occupations and condition themselves for work."

The workers earn while they learn, receiving wages in accord with sheltered workshop standards.

How To Be A Good Neighbor: Just Learn To Grin, Bear It

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Do you know how to get along with your neighbors?

It's easy. Just listen to them expound on what they don't like about the other neighbors in your area. Ladders to leaves, it will go like this:

1.—If you borrow tools, put them back in their home workshop by 6 o'clock. (But don't be gauche, and ask your neighbor to return your borrowed shovel until he's through with it.)

2. — Sweep your leaves up the moment they drop from the trees. (Be prepared to sweep his, too, when a wrong-way breeze puts them on your property.)

3. — If he doesn't have a dog, put a muzzle around yours to keep him from yapping (but buy ear plugs if your neighbor has a kennel of howling canines.)

4. — Keep your place beautifully landscaped with flowers blooming in every season to complement the neighborhood (but overlook your neighbor's straggly weeds, for which he'll have a good excuse.)

5. — Be sure to keep your garbage can out of sight. Ditto clothes line and trash. (If his show, pretend you haven't noticed.)

6. — Close your garage door every time you put the car to bed. (If you don't it'll run down the hill, even though everyone else leaves his garage door open).

7. — Go into a tool pool with enthusiasm. Buy one - fifth of a power saw or a ladder. (But don't be surprised if all share holders blow up when you want to buy out.)

8. — Be sure to keep enough seed in your bird feeder, so you won't be criticized. (But overlook your neighbor's penchant for feeding squirrels who rob the birds' nests.)

9. — Be considerate of your neighbor's color scheme, the environment and location when you paint your house. (But if he hangs neon lights from the eaves be a good sport and smile gaily.)

10. — Be sure you burn leaves and other rubbish on the days the town elects for outdoor fires. (But when your neighbor starts a brush fire, give him a hand beating it out, at the risk of your life.)

Potatoes usually need a warm or temperate climate in which to grow. But there is one species of potato in the mountains of Mexico that grows well at the snow line.

2 Killed On Motorcycle

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Two men —one a Carnegie Institute of Technology upperclassman from Lorain, Ohio — were killed Sunday when their motorcycle hit a tree in Schenley Park here. Police said Orrin McCahon, 21, of Lorain, was driving, and Navy apprentice seaman Thomas B. Bates, 19, of suburban Wilkinsburg, Pa., was a passenger.

Giuseppe Verdi was responsible for 27 operas.

Attendant Was Ready In Second Holdup Bid

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Service station attendant Max Stapleton is not a man to let disaster strike twice.

A week ago, he was robbed of $70. Sunday, the same man walked up to Stapleton's station to find that Stapleton (1) had recognized him, (2) was barricaded in the back room, and (3) was armed with a .38 caliber revolver.

The holdup man emptied his gun into the door of the back room. On the other side, Stapleton emptied his gun right back. Despite all the lead flying around, no one apparently got hit.

When the smoke cleared, Stapleton told police, he could hear the holdup man rifling the cash register. But Stapleton was ahead of him there, too. It was empty.

Two More Concerts Added

Civic Music Series Is Set

With the addition of two more concerts, the Civic Music Association was looking forward to a successful 1958-59 season today encouraged by an increase in membership over last season.

Joining Rise Stevens, noted singer, will be Nelson and Neal, Australia-American piano team, and the Eger Players.

Their selections were made by the association's talent committee Saturday after completion of the week-long membership drive. E. King Mathews, association president, said "memberships showed a substantial increase over the 650 of the 1957-58 season."

—:—

ALLISON NELSON of Australia and Harry Neal, versatile American pianist, have won praise for their presentations. They were trained at the Curtis Institute by Rudolf Serkin and Isabelle Vangerova. They met and were married in Philadelphia, where for 18 months they presented the only television program at the time devoted entirely to classical music.

Since then, they have played hundreds of concerts in Australia, New Zealand and North America, introducing many new works and specializing in original literature. Individually or together they have played more than 30 engagements and major symphony orchestras from Sydney to Philadelphia.

The Eger Players are nationally known. The group is reported to be the only ensemble of its kind in the world. Joseph Eger, recording artist and French horn virtuoso, is noted for his presentations of new dimensions in sound. He appeared among the artists at Grant Park, Chicago, this summer along with Van Cliburn and others.

—:—

THE EGER group will meet the talent committee's desire to have violin and cello selections as part of the series. The director of the players also frequently interviews interested students in classroom and concert hall, the committee members pointed out, with stimulating question - and - answer periods resulting.

In winding up the campaign, Mathews again expressed appreciation for "the wonderful cooperation of the public and the workers' during the drive.

He cited these division chairmen for their assistance: Mrs. William Shoub, Mrs. Myron Weiss and Miss Luella Thompson of Wellsville; Miss Virginia Rigby of Chester; Mrs. Harry Henkin of Midland; Mrs. Burton Kerr, Mrs. John Roberts, Mrs. Sidney Porter, Mrs. Charles Shriver, Mrs. Everson Hall, Mrs. Mathews and Ernest Lowe.

Dates of the concerts will be announced as soon as they are confirmed, Mathews said.

For Lack Of A Shoe, Youths Get In Trouble

CLEVELAND (AP)—Patrolman John W. Butler cornered two youths fleeing from the shattered display window of a shoe store Sunday.

One boy clutched a right shoe, size 8C.

In the youth's home, Butler found its mate—a left shoe, size 8C.

The boys took the left shoe from the store Friday night, the youth explained, but the alarm scared them away before they could grab the mate.

"I wanted a pair that matched," he added.

The boys, 16 and 17, were sent to the juvenile detention home.

2 District Men Will File Pleas

Arraignment Slated In Jefferson Court

A Wellsville man charged with armed robbery and an East Liverpool man accused of breaking and entering will be among the 42 to be arraigned Wednesday in Jefferson County Common Pleas Court at Steubenville.

Nine district men were indicted by the Jefferson County Grand Jury, which reported Wednesday. The arraignments, which will begin at 9:30 a. m. Wednesday, are expected to continue through Thursday. No date has been set for beginning trials.

David Buckel of Wellsville is accused of the holdup of the P. & Z. Truck Stop near Port Homer July 8. Buckel, 27, was arrested about a week later. He was identified by Mrs. Doris Jean Suttle, a waitress at the restaurant. His companion in the robbery never was caught.

Hubert (Sonny) Kline, 26, of East Liverpool was cited in the burglary of the Anthony Abrutz mine on Brush Creek. He was indicted with Howard Russell, 35, of Salineville R. D. 3 and Thurman Allgood of Irondale, who are charged with breaking and entering and larceny.

Others indicted included Clarence (William) Martin of Empire, a Knox Township constable, exhibiting gambling devices and selling tickets for a lottery; Ronald Fullerton, 20, of Toronto R. D. 2, assault with intent to rob; Howell Davis of Empire, two counts of assault and battery, and Ray Hooper, 25, of Hammondsville and Delbert Patterson of Toronto R. Guest Closet Can Be Made Neat In Hurry

You wouldn't think of greeting your guests without first making sure you look your best, so why put a bad foot forward by allowing the guest closet to become a tangled catch-all for everything from a porch mop to broken umbrella?

The guest closet should be the neatest and best arranged closet in the house. It can be with little effort. One simple way is to install pigeonhole type storage facilities in the closet.

These can be built of hardboard or peg board in an egg-crate type of construction. They should be built for both the overhead shelf and the floor.

On the shelf, they can accomodate hat boxes, purses, and similar items. Bulkier articles, such as boots and rubbers, can be kept neatly arranged in pigeonhole shelves placed on the floor.

Quarter-inch hardboard panels, available at any lumber yard, are suitable for these shelving units. Slots, the thickness of the panel, are sawed halfway through each panel where it interlocks with another panel. The completed shelf section is then self-supporting.

Each section may be of any height, best suited for your particular closet, and each may contain two or more shelves. However, they should be at least 12 inches deep and should extend the entire width of the closet.

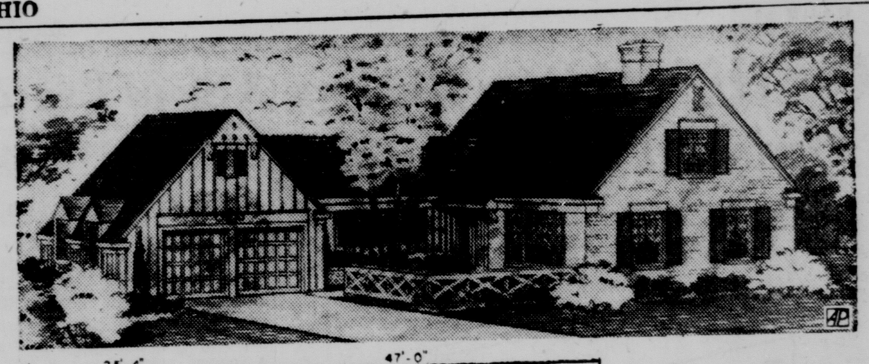

It can be helpful sometimes to install a vertical divider in the closet. In this way, one side of the closet can be kept exclusively for guests while the family's outdoor clothes and seldom-used items are kept in the other section.

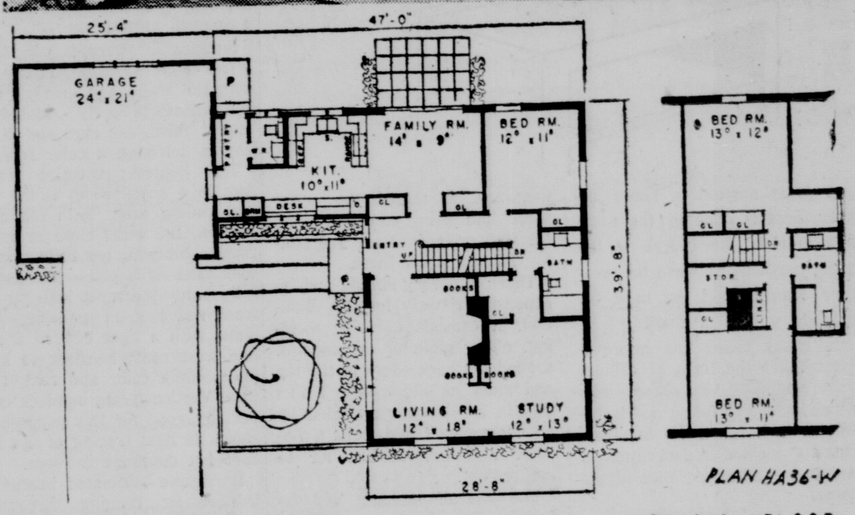

A single panel of quarter-inch hardboard or peg board, framed with one by two-inch lumber and slotted so it fits around the clothes bar and storage shelf, is ideal for this type of installation.

It should be fastened inside the closet at the back and at the top with angle irons.

Arraignment Waited

FLEMINGSBURG, Ky. (AP)—Arraignment is scheduled this afternoon for Eugene Henry, 34, of Ironton, Ohio, charged with murder in slayings of Pearlie Mae Bush, 21, and Charles (Chad) Norris, 38. Henry appears before County Judge Jack Clark in connection with the Bush case. Authorities say Henry killed Norris in an argument over money, then killed the woman because she knew he was with Norris the night of the slaying.

THIS STORY AND A HALF CAPE COD has seven rooms and 2½ baths on two floors with a total of 2,047 square feet. The quiet areas are remote from the active areas. The basement area includes laundry room and space for a recreation room. The plan, HA36-W, is by Architect Clifford N. Wright, 16310 Grand River Ave., Detroit 27, Mich.

Paint Used In New Way

NEW YORK (AP) — A versatile product, paint is used in many ways around a house by both amateur and professional.

But a New York interior designer used it in unusual and perhaps new ways in a major redecorating project.

The role of paint in the project was emphasized perhaps because the job was commissioned by America's "Mr. Paint," Gen. Joseph F. Battley, president of the National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Assn., an organization of 1,500 paint or paint materials firms.

—:—

THE WORK was done at the home of Gen. and Mrs. Battley in the Georgetown section of the nation's capital by Mrs. Ellen Lehman McCluskey, a nationally-known interior designer of New York.

In the Battley home, Mrs. McCluskey used paint to simulate bedroom molding, to represent wood paneling and to give a textured effect to walls and floors.

Decorative stripes were painted on library walls, enameled metal flowers were used for bedroom decorations, and furniture was decorated with paint to correlate the furniture with the color or decor of the individual rooms.

In Mrs. Battley's bedroom, paint was used on walls, floors and furniture as well as for decorative floral touches.

—:—

IN THIS room, a base coat of white enamel was used on the floor. After it dried, it was mottled with blue and green by flicking it on with a paint brush.

Gen. Battley, who retired in 1947 after holding important commands in both world wars, has a comfortable, masculine 18th-century English bedroom with antique furnishings.

Here the walls were painted to simulate wood paneling as a means of emphasizing the patterned carpeting and the hand-blocked red-toned linen drapes.

A Victorian mahogany four-poster bed in Mrs. Battley's bedroom was painted white with blue striping and topped with a canopy of white percale, appliqued with blue lace dressmaker flowers, repeating the pattern and color of the bedspread.

In a dressing-sitting room next to Mrs. Battley's bedroom, Mrs. McCluskey used blue walls with green accents.

The floor was painted white and on top of this a mural design of a formal 18th Century French garden was stenciled in green paint.

The designer says this unusual type of floor treatment currently is enjoying a revival in this country. On the floor of the guest room, paint was used as a blue border around a deep green cotton rug.

—:—

TO STIMULATE architectural detail, the moldings in the guest room were painted purple against white walls. Four-poster twin beds in the room were painted blue.

In the living room, the walls were painted a soft mauve-pink and stippled with paint to provide a textured or dimensional effect. The floor was stained black.

In the library, the walls were striped. The first coat was painted flat white and then with masking tape in place, mustard-gold stripes were applied vertically. Here again the wooden floor was stained black.

Large basement rooms are popular entertaining areas in Washington homes, and it was decided to finish the plywood walls of the lowest floor in the Battley home with yellow, textured paint.

A mantelpiece in one of the basement rooms is framed in weathered wood, which came from pieces of wreckage washed ashore at the Kitty Hawk, N. C. home of Gen. Battley during hurricane Hazel in 1954.

The monkey is the only animal which has a thumb that can touch the other four fingres.

COLUMBUS — Sales techniques that stress service to Ohio home and property buyers will be emphasized by nationally - known speakers during the 49th annual convention of the Ohio Association of Real Estate Boards, which opens here Sunday.

More than 1,200 realtors, salesmen and their wives will convene for four days at the Deshler Hilton to find out how they can serve their communities and their profession better.

—:—

TOPICS THAT deal with all phases of salesmanship, motivational research, multiple listing, public relations, advertising, land developments, housing legislation, property appraisals, rural real estate and women in real estate will occupy the convention agenda, according to Marvin C. Yerke, Columbus realtor who is chairman of the convention committee.

The meeting will attract representatives from 72 local boards, which have a combined membership of nearly 3,700 realtors and approximately 6,000 associate members.

Monday will be "Salesmen's Day" and will feature morning sessions and luncheons sponsored by five separate institutes of the OAREB. Speakers will include:

Irving Gillman, vice president of the Institute of Motivational Research, Croton - on - Hudson, N. Y., on "Why Mr. Jones said 'No' Selling the Client is More Important Than Selling the House."

John J. Wagner of Cedar Rapids, Ia., president of the American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers, on "Basic Changes Affecting Our Real Estate Economy."

Lloyd D. Hanford of San Francisco, president of the Institute of Real Estate Management, on "Commissions Are Not Windfalls."

—:—

LARRY I. Chambers, executive secretary of the Columbus Board of Realtors, will be moderator of a panel on "Cooperation Means More Income." James J. Spatz of Chicago, director of field services for the National Association of Real Estate Boards; Preston Cooke, Columbus Realtor, and F. Ross Ellis, Cleveland realtor, will participate on the panel.

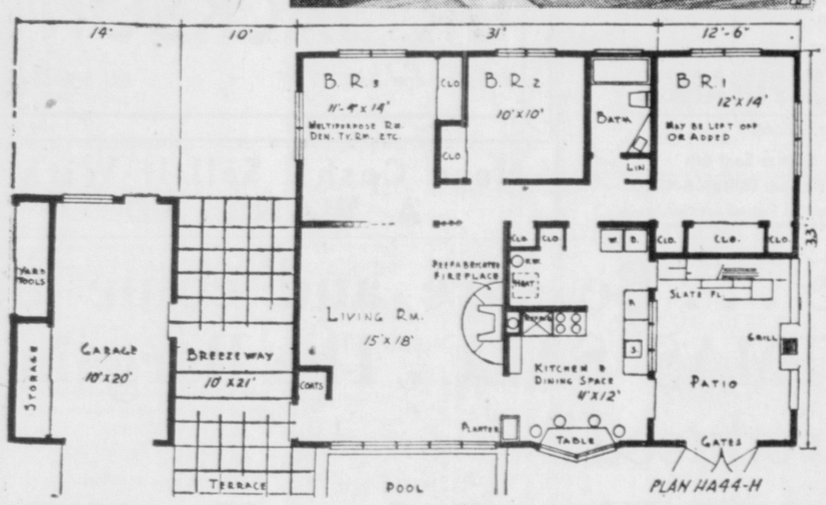

Institute speakers Monday will include:

Robert L. Free of Cleveland; M. L. Mathews of the F. W. Dodge Corp., New York; John A. Slipher, Ohio State University department of agronomy; G. R. Johnson, OSU department of animal sciences; Mervin Smith, OSU department of agricultural economics and rural sociology; Frank Brunner, Ohio department of highways, and John Waldeck of Canton.

The convention's keynote address will be delivered Tuesday morning by H. Walter Graves of Philadelphia, president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

THIS ECONOMY house is designed so that one of the three bedrooms may be left off at the time of construction and added later. The house is built on a slab, without basement. The living area has 1,246 square feet. The plan, HA44-H, is by Architect Paul T. Haagen, 360 North Michigan Ave., Chicago 1, Ill.

Attendant Was Ready In Second Holdup Bid

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Service station attendant Max Stapleton is not a man to let disaster strike twice.

A week ago, he was robbed of $70. Sunday, the same man walked up to Stapleton's station to find that Stapleton (1) had recognized him, (2) was barricaded in the back room, and (3) was armed with a .38 caliber revolver.

The holdup man emptied his gun into the door of the back room. On the other side, Stapleton emptied his gun right back. Despite all the lead flying around, no one apparently got hit.

When the smoke cleared, Stapleton told police, he could hear the holdup man rifling the cash register. But Stapleton was ahead of him there, too. It was empty.

2 Killed On Motorcycle

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Two men—one a Carnegie Institute of Technology upperclassman from Lorain, Ohio — were killed Sunday when their motorcycle hit a tree in Schenley Park here. Police said Orrin McCahon, 21, of Lorain, was driving, and Navy apprentice seaman Thomas B. Bates, 19, of suburban Wilkinsburg, Pa., was a passenger.

Giuseppe Verdi was responsible for 27 operas.

How To Be A Good Neighbor: Just Learn To Grin, Bear It

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Do you know how to get along with your neighbors?

It's easy. Just listen to them expound on what they don't like about the other neighbors in your area. Ladders to leaves, it will go like this:

1.—If you borrow tools, put them back in their home workshop by 6 o'clock. (But don't be gauche, and ask your neighbor to return your borrowed shovel until he's through with it.)

2. — Sweep your leaves up the moment they drop from the trees. (Be prepared to sweep his, too, when a wrong-way breeze puts them on your property.)

3. — If he doesn't have a dog, put a muzzle around yours to keep him from yapping (but buy ear plugs if your neighbor has a kennel of howling canines.)

4. — Keep your place beautifully landscaped with flowers blooming in every season to complement the neighborhood (but overlook your neighbor's straggly weeds, for which he'll have a good excuse.)

5. — Be sure to keep your garbage can out of sight. Ditto clothes line and trash. (If his show, pretend you haven't noticed.)

6. — Close your garage door every time you put the car to bed. (If you don't it'll run down the hill, even though everyone else leaves his garage door open).

7. — Go into a tool pool with enthusiasm. Buy one - fifth of a power saw or a ladder. (But don't be surprised if all share holders blow up when you want to buy out.)

8. — Be sure to keep enough seed in your bird feeder, so you won't be criticized. (But overlook your neighbor's penchant for feeding squirrels who rob the birds' nests.)

9. — Be considerate of your neighbor's color scheme, the environment and location when you paint your house. (But if he hangs neon lights from the eaves be a good sport and smile gaily.)

10. — Be sure you burn leaves and other rubbish on the days the town elects for outdoor fires. (But when your neighbor starts a brush fire, give him a hand beating it out, at the risk of your life.)

Potatoes usually need a warm or temperate climate in which to grow. But there is one species of potato in the mountains of Mexico that grows well at the snow line.

Use Of Molding Brings 'Finished' Appearance

A great amount of home improvement is done by the average man in the course of the year, particularly when the weather changes and the need for outdoor work has ceased.

In many cases this improvement takes the form of cabinet work, painting, or other tasks which are not large in themselves, but, taken all together, make a decided improvement in the over - all appearance of the home.

Quite a bit of the cabinet or woodworking is done with the aid of unfinished built - in furniture, which has been improved in style and design steadily during the last 10 years.

More than not, the home mechanic who is fitting a new book cabinet or set of shelves against a wall finds that he has a gap where the back or sides of the piece touch the wall. He also finds that, even after painting, there is a rather unfinished appearance, as though the new piece had been placed against the wall or in a corner and simply left to stand there.

There is a very simple and inexpensive remedy for this situation. It consists of using molding, either plain or ornamental, around the back edges of the top and sides as illustrated. This fills in any openings caused by an uneven wall and lends a finished and workmanlike air to the project.

The use of molding will be found very effective in many other places, such as over a newly - tiled floor where it meets the baseboard, around window and door trim which is skimpy and light looking or in any other spot that requires a bit of dressing up.

Quarter - round and half-round molding is used mostly, but there are some 16 highly decorative, carved moldings also available.

3 Steps Urged In Decorating

Suggestions Given For Small Rooms

PORTLAND, Ore.—How do you go about decorating a small living room to assure gracious line while avoiding both a crowded look and a Spartan atmosphere?

Success is yours if you follow a few basic formulae. First, start with the walls and ceiling; second, choose properly - scaled furniture; third, use care and discretion in selecting a color scheme.

The biggest potential trouble spot in a small room is the wall and ceiling area. With too much pattern, the walls close in on the room, and with too little texture, they take on a cell - like nature.

Probably the most foolproof treatment lies in paneling the walls with a light colored wood like west coast hemlock to introduce subtle color and rich texture. Vertical grain hemlock is especially good for this purpose because its light tracing of grain does not dominate a room.

Handsome laminated beams of Douglas fir running through a room tend to increase its size, adding dimension to the ceiling, as well. Ceiling decking of tongue-and-groove hemlock to match the wall treatment continues the sleek, sophisticated feeling.

Much of the charm of a small living room depends upon properly - scaled appointments. Sometimes conventional furniture just won't "fit," and in this case, built-ins are often the answer.

For example, a built-in davenport, comfortably upholstered with foam rubber cushions, takes much less footage from the room than would a conventional piece, and because it has been designed specifically for that room, the built-in is assured of adding to the over-all effect of the decor rather than detracting from it.

Built-ins can serve double duty, too. If the living room and dining area have been constructed on the open - area plan, a built - in davenport can be angled to form a divider between the two areas, and its back, facing the dining room side, designed for storage of table linens or glassware.

Color scheme is a third way of increasing the size of a small room. Sticking to a monochromatic scheme is the safest bet. And repeating the creamy beige coloring of hemlock walls for the carpeting is one trick guaranteed to open up a room.

Steel Extras To Cost More

Awaited Hike Won't Affect Base Prices

CLEVELAND (AP)—An expected boost in steel prices early next year will not affect base prices, but will be made in charges for extras, Steel magazine said today.

Steel companies raised extras during January in 1956 and 1957 and already have declared that this year's base price increases in August weren't enough to offset higher costs, the metalworking weekly said.

Steel's composite on base prices of finished steel has remained unchanged at $149.25 a net ton since the middle of August.

"Some structural steel fabricators are protecting themselves against the possible increase by adding $4.50 to $5 a ton on quotations for work to be delivered after Jan. 1," the publication said.

Orders for tin plate are expected to soar next month as consumers try to beat an increase in base prices for that commodity, effective Nov. 1, Steel added.

New orders for steel are running 10 to 15 per cent ahead of those booked in August, producers report. Sheets are most in demand because of increased activity in the automotive and appliance industries.

Steel production last week was unchanged at 66.5 per cent of rated capacity, the highest level of the year. Output totaled about 1,795,000 net tons.

Steel's price composite on steelmaking scrap was unchanged at $43 a gross ton.

Guest Closet Can Be Made Neat In Hurry

You wouldn't think of greeting your guests without first making sure you look your best, so why put a bad foot forward by allowing the guest closet to become a tangled catch-all for everything from a porch mop to broken umbrella?

The guest closet should be the neatest and best arranged closet in the house. It can be with little effort. One simple way is to install pigeonhole type storage facilities in the closet.

These can be built of hardboard or peg board in an egg-crate type of construction. They should be built for both the overhead shelf and the floor.

On the shelf, they can accomodate hat boxes, purses, and similar items. Bulkier articles, such as boots and rubbers, can be kept neatly arranged in pigeonhole shelves placed on the floor.

Quarter-inch hardboard panels, available at any lumber yard, are suitable for these shelving units. Slots, the thickness of the panel, are sawed halfway through each panel where it interlocks with another panel. The completed shelf section is then self-supporting.

Each section may be of any height, best suited for your particular closet, and each may contain two or more shelves. However, they should be at least 12 inches deep and should extend the entire width of the closet.

It can be helpful sometimes to install a vertical divider in the closet. In this way, one side of the closet can be kept exclusively for guests while the family's outdoor clothes and seldom-used items are kept in the other section.

A single panel of quarter-inch hardboard or peg board, framed with one by two-inch lumber and slotted so it fits around the clothes bar and storage shelf, is ideal for this type of installation.

It should be fastened inside the closet at the back and at the top with angle irons.

Paint Used In New Way

NEW YORK (AP) — A versatile product, paint is used in many ways around a house by both amateur and professional.

But a New York interior designer used it in unusual and perhaps new ways in a major redecorating project.

The role of paint in the project was emphasized perhaps because the job was commissioned by America's "Mr. Paint," Gen. Joseph F. Battley, president of the National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Assn., an organization of 1,500 paint or paint materials firms.

—:—

THE WORK was done at the home of Gen. and Mrs. Battley in the Georgetown section of the nation's capital by Mrs. Ellen Lehman McCluskey, a nationally-known interior designer of New York.

In the Battley home, Mrs. McCluskey used paint to simulate bedroom molding, to represent wood paneling and to give a textured effect to walls and floors.

Decorative stripes were painted on library walls, enameled metal flowers were used for bedroom decorations, and furniture was decorated with paint to correlate the furniture with the color or decor of the individual rooms.

In Mrs. Battley's bedroom, paint was used on walls, floors and furniture as well as for decorative floral touches.

—:—

IN THIS room, a base coat of white enamel was used on the floor. After it dried, it was mottled with blue and green by flicking it on with a paint brush.

Gen. Battley, who retired in 1947 after holding important commands in both world wars, has a comfortable, masculine 18th-century English bedroom with antique furnishings.

Here the walls were painted to simulate wood paneling as a means of emphasizing the patterned carpeting and the hand-blocked red-toned linen drapes.

A Victorian mahogany four-poster bed in Mrs. Battley's bedroom was painted white with blue striping and topped with a canopy of white percale, appliqued with blue lace dressmaker flowers, repeating the pattern and color of the bedspread.

In a dressing-sitting room next to Mrs. Battley's bedroom, Mrs. McCluskey used blue walls with green accents.

The floor was painted white and on top of this a mural design of a formal 18th Century French garden was stenciled in green paint.

The designer says this unusual type of floor treatment currently is enjoying a revival in this country. On the floor of the guest room, paint was used as a blue border around a deep green cotton rug.

—:—

TO STIMULATE architectural detail, the moldings in the guest room were painted purple against white walls. Four-poster twin beds in the room were painted blue.

In the living room, the walls were painted a soft mauve-pink and stippled with paint to provide a textured or dimensional effect. The floor was stained black.

In the library, the walls were striped. The first coat was painted flat white and then with masking tape in place, mustard-gold stripes were applied vertically. Here again the wooden floor was stained black.

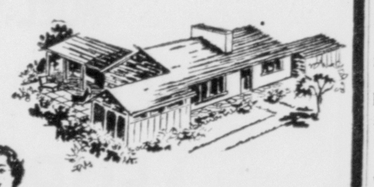

Large basement rooms are popular entertaining areas in Washington homes, and it was decided to finish the plywood walls of the lowest floor in the Battley home with yellow, textured paint.

A mantelpiece in one of the basement rooms is framed in weathered wood, which came from pieces of wreckage washed ashore at the Kitty Hawk, N. C. home of Gen. Battley during hurricane Hazel in 1954.

The monkey is the only animal which has a thumb that can touch the other four fingres.

Use Of Molding Brings 'Finished' Appearance

A great amount of home improvement is done by the average man in the course of the year, particularly when the weather changes and the need for outdoor work has ceased.

In many cases this improvement takes the form of cabinet work, painting, or other tasks which are not large in themselves, but, taken all together, make a decided improvement in the over - all appearance of the home.

Quite a bit of the cabinet or woodworking is done with the aid of unfinished built - in furniture, which has been improved in style and design steadily during the last 10 years.

More than not, the home mechanic who is fitting a new book cabinet or set of shelves against a wall finds that he has a gap where the back or sides of the piece touch the wall. He also finds that, even after painting, there is a rather unfinished appearance, as though the new piece had been placed against the wall or in a corner and simply left to stand there.

There is a very simple and inexpensive remedy for this situation. It consists of using molding, either plain or ornamental, around the back edges of the top and sides as illustrated. This fills in any openings caused by an uneven wall and lends a finished and workmanlike air to the project.

The use of molding will be found very effective in many other places, such as over a newly - tiled floor where it meets the baseboard, around window and door trim which is skimpy and light looking or in any other spot that requires a bit of dressing up.

Quarter - round and half-round molding is used mostly, but there are some 16 highly decorative, carved moldings also available.

3 Steps Urged In Decorating

Suggestions Given For Small Rooms

PORTLAND, Ore.—How do you go about decorating a small living room to assure gracious line while avoiding both a crowded look and a Spartan atmosphere?

Success is yours if you follow a few basic formulae. First, start with the walls and ceiling; second, choose properly - scaled furniture; third, use care and discretion in selecting a color scheme.

The biggest potential trouble spot in a small room is the wall and ceiling area. With too much pattern, the walls close in on the room, and with too little texture, they take on a cell - like nature.

Probably the most fool- proof treatment lies in paneling the walls with a light colored wood like west coast hemlock to introduce subtle color and rich texture. Vertical grain hemlock is especially good for this purpose because its light tracing of grain does not dominate a room.

Handsome laminated beams of Douglas fir running through a room tend to increase its size, adding dimension to the ceiling, as well. Ceiling decking of tongue-and-groove hemlock to match the wall treatment continues the sleek, sophisticated feeling.

Much of the charm of a small living room depends upon properly - scaled appointments. Sometimes conventional furniture just won't "fit," and in this case, built-ins are often the answer.

For example, a built-in davenport, comfortably upholstered with foam rubber cushions, takes much less footage from the room than would a conventional piece, and because it has been designed specifically for that room, the built-in is assured of adding to the over-all effect of the decor rather than detracting from it.

Built-ins can serve double duty, too. If the living room and dining area have been constructed on the open - area plan, a built - in davenport can be angled to form a divider between the two areas, and its back, facing the dining room side, designed for storage of table linens or glassware.

Color scheme is a third way of increasing the size of a small room. Sticking to a monochromatic scheme is the safest bet. And repeating the creamy beige coloring of hemlock walls for the carpeting is one trick guaranteed to open up a room.

Steel Extras To Cost More

Awaited Hike Won't Affect Base Prices

CLEVELAND (AP)—An expected boost in steel prices early next year will not affect base prices, but will be made in charges for extras, Steel magazine said today.

Steel companies raised extras during January in 1956 and 1957 and already have declared that this year's base price increases in August weren't enough to offset higher costs, the metalworking weekly said.

Steel's composite on base prices of finished steel has remained unchanged at $149.25 a net ton since the middle of August.

"Some structural steel fabricators are protecting themselves against the possible increase by adding $4.50 to $5 a ton on quotations for work to be delivered after Jan. 1," the publication said.

Orders for tin plate are expected to soar next month as consumers try to beat an increase in base prices for that commodity, effective Nov. 1, Steel added.

New orders for steel are running 10 to 15 per cent ahead of those booked in August, producers report. Sheets are most in demand because of increased activity in the automotive and appliance industries.

Steel production last week was unchanged at 66.5 per cent of rated capacity, the highest level of the year. Output totaled about 1,795,000 net tons.

Steel's price composite on steelmaking scrap was unchanged at $43 a gross ton.

How He Meets His Problems

Banks, Loan Firms Bare Facts On Average Farmer

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — How the man of modest means meets his financial problems during the economy's ups and downs—and what he thinks of the chances of good times or bad—often can be learned in the small loan departments of the banks and finance companies.

Their records of demand for loans, difficulties of collections, and volume of delinquencies reflect trends among a large segment of citizens—just as the records of the millions and billions that industry borrows give a clue to the course of business activity and thinking.

Today small loan patterns across the nation show marked regional variations—both as to the financial health of the citizen in the middle and lower income brackets and his confidence or caution in viewing the future.

This is underlined in a survey of finance companies in 15 cities across the nation made on the eve of Tuesday's opening of the National Consumer Finance Assn.'s meeting in Miami Beach.

The Eastern seaboard shows less response in consumer attitudes to business recovery than some other sections. Many industrial areas of the Middle West, hard hit by the recession, are feeling much better but still very cautious. Across the Mississippi a definite upturn is reported. The Far West is only a trifle less optimistic and willing to borrow again.

All unite on one thing—money for the finance companies to borrow in order to lend to you is getting tighter and interest rates seem headed back to their 1957 peaks.

In the East: Albany, N. Y. reports no increase in demand for loans except for vacations, although the average customer isn't as pessimistic now about job security or an imminent third world war. An Ithaca, N. Y. finance company has added to its staff to cope with increasing collection problems. Its potential customers are still very cautious and adding to savings rather than borrowing.

In Upper Darby, Pa., the high cost of living is blamed for collection troubles and heavier than usual net losses. The average customer there shows further resistance to high prices and large debt, with loan demand mostly for emergency needs. Portsmouth, Va., hopes loan demand will increase in the latter part of the year.

It's already there is Washington, D. C., with the consumer showing more confidence and willingness to incur debt.

Tampa, Fla., says consumer confidence lags behind stock market activity, with borrowers still taking a wait and see attitude.

In the Middle West: Jackson, Mich., reports collections in that state still a serious problem, but customers more optimistic now. In Columbus, Ohio, delinquencies are higher, following the pattern of 1950 and 1954, but loan demand is rising now—though more to buy services than durables.

Evansville, Ind., sees some measure of loan volume upturn but little improvement in collections. It reports some customers worrying about coming inflation and talking of borrowing to buy now to beat price hikes.

Chicago reports improvement in the credit worthiness of applicants and a steady if moderate improvement in cash collections.

Across the Mississippi, St. Louis says collections are improving. Des Moines notes a rise in loan volume in recent weeks although many customers are still very careful to avoid over extention of indebtedness.

In Denver demand for consumer loans in August and September showed a definite increase and collections have improved greatly. The average customer is buying more freely and able to make larger down payments.

In the Far West: Los Angeles thinks the worst of delinquencies and losses is passed and confidence seems to be improving. A Bellevue, Wash. finance company reports employment improving and customers showing willingness to spend but definitely demanding more value, particularly in autos.

Area Church Meeting Staged At Steubenville

Churches of the area were well represented at a laymen's rally of the Methodist Churches of the Steubenville District Sunday that attracted 300 to the Finley Church at Steubenville.

Dr. Paul Ward of Steubenville, district superintendent, introduced the speaker, Bishop Hazen G. Werner of the Ohio Methodist Area.

The Rev. Alfred Knox of Columbus, public relations director of the Ohio Area, showed a film strip on "Ohio Area Study." It referred to Methodism in Ohio, dealing with the past and plans for the future.

A solecism is a blunder in speech.
